ACTION LINE is your service, solving your problems, getting your answers, cutting red tape and standing up for your rights. To get action, write ACTION LINE, Box 230, Long Beach, Calif. 90801, or dial 432-3451 between 9 a.m. and 1 p.m., or 5 p.m. and 9 p.m., Monday through Friday. Questions to be answered are selected for their general interest and helpfulness.

Amateur Night

Q. Do you know who I can contact to find out about appearing on the Ted Mack Amateur Hour? What qualifications are needed to compete? B.B., Long Beach.

A. The Original Amateur Hour, now in its 23rd TV year, sends out scouts across the nation several times a year. The scouting teams' destinations are announced during the show, according to Edward Silver of CBS-TV, New York. Amateurs wanting to appear on the show also can write Radio City Station, Amateur Hour, P.O. Box 190, New York, N.Y., outlining their act or performance. Choices are made on the basis of the scouts' reports, and on auditions, since the show receives "at least 20 times the amount of acts we can use," said Silver. Selections are based on originality, talent and "personality."

Action Line

Not in the Pink

Q. Could ACTION LINE please help me find the pink slip to my car? It has been paid for since 1966. I bought the car, a 1960 Buick, from a dealer on Long Beach Boulevard. They have since gone out of business. I'd like to trade the car and need the pink slip desperately. M.K.H., Long Beach.

A. The Department of Motor Vehicles office at 2627 Pacific Ave., will help you with your problem. They ask that you bring all the papers you do have on the vehicle. They need the time and date of purchase, the name of the dealer, your contract, your canceled checks and the present registration slip. Before any action can be taken, the DMV will ask you to sign a complaint against the dealer that you did not receive your pink slip.

GRAFFITI by Leary

MIDDLE AGE IS WHEN A NOISY JOINT IS YOUR KNEE

DMV investigators will be assigned to the case to try and find the dealer and former owners of the car to reconstruct the vehicle's history and run down your pink slip.

Job Problem

Q. In 1967, my husband lost his job because of alcoholism. With the help of a rehabilitation center, he has stopped drinking, but he hasn't been able to find another job. Is there any agency which tries to find jobs for ex-alcoholics? O.C., Long Beach.

A. ACTION LINE could not find any agency that acts as a placement service strictly for ex-alcoholics, but the California Department of Rehabilitation may be able to help your husband. The department tries to find jobs for physically or mentally handicapped individuals. A spokesman for the department told ACTION LINE that ex-alcoholics and former drug addicts also are eligible for this assistance. The department's Long Beach office is located at 230 E. Fourth St.

Unkindest Cutter?

Q. I have some friends on the Coast Guard Cutter Glacier. Can you give me some information on what the Glacier has done in previous years and what her duties are now? Also, I understand this ship is really falling apart. Will it be one of the ships to go into moth balls when she comes back to Long Beach? I.R.A., Long Beach.

A. The U.S. Coast Guard Cutter Glacier, an ice-breaker, is now operating in the Antarctic Ocean gathering oceanographic data, her job since her launching. The vessel carries a crew of 21. She was commissioned by the Navy in 1955 and assigned to the Coast Guard in 1966 and she is not falling apart, a public information officer at Coast Guard headquarters here said. She sailed from Long Beach in early December and will return to her home port here around the latter part of April. She will not join the mothball fleet. Instead, she will be overhauled for her 16th voyage to the Southern Polar Region. The cutter recently did suffer some minor hull damage but not enough to recall her.

TV Trouble

Q. I recently bought a color TV set from Carroll's Appliances, 1821 Pacific Coast Highway, Long Beach. The set is not working properly, and since I have a guarantee, I've been trying to get Carroll's to make the necessary repairs. I have been calling since Dec. 11 but all I get are promises. Can you help? M.L.M., San Pedro.

A. Ed Carroll, owner of the store, said that he will repair your set, but as a favor to you, and not because of the guarantee. According to Carroll, you purchased a used set and were only given a three month guarantee on parts and labor. He said it expired Dec. 9, 1969.

State Party Chiefs Warn Against 'Schrade' Division

By BOB SCHMIDT
From Our State Bureau

SAN FRANCISCO — California's Republican Party leaders, angry and apprehensive over the controversy surrounding Senate president pro tem Jack Schrade, were advised Friday not to let their concern divide the party.

Republican State Central Committee Chairman Dennis E. Carpenter of Newport Beach and Lt. Gov. Ed Reinecke were the principal peacemakers as the central committee's three-day "Spring Convention" got under way here.

"If the Republican party has to go at each other with hammer and tongs over this thing," Carpenter said, "then we will have thrown away all we've worked for for 10 years."

Reinecke told a closed session of about 45 county chairmen, who devoted a day-long meeting almost entirely to Schrade. "We've got to stop feeding the Unruh forces ammunition. We've got to stay away from the Senate fight."

His reference was to Assemblyman Jess Unruh, who is seeking the Democratic gubernatorial nomination.

SCHRADER, R-San Diego, unsanctioned fellow Republican Howard Way as president pro tempore of the Senate three weeks ago in a move that was angrily assailed at the time by many other Republicans.

Several Democratic senators said Schrade sought their support by promising to protect them in next year's reapportionment, and also by promising to help them resist many of Gov. Ronald Reagan's programs. It was also charged that Unruh had intervened on Schrade's behalf.

It was subsequently disclosed that Schrade last year had accepted a $5,000 campaign contribution from a lobbyist at the same time a bill favored by the lobbyist was before a committee on which Schrade was serving.

Schrade voted for the bill, as he had done in 1963 and in 1967, but, as in the two previous years, the measure failed to get full Senate approval.

A spokesman for the employers of the lobbyist admitted the contribution was made in hopes of "producing favorable results."

Schrade has admitted receiving the $5,000, but denied that it influenced his vote. Nevertheless, the district attorneys of three counties, San Diego, Tulare, and Sacramento, are investigating.

CARPENTER said the entire Schrade matter "is now in appropriate hands. It is not appropriate for the Republican Party to hold a kangaroo court on Schrade."

He acknowledged that he wished Schrade had not accepted the check in the circumstances he did because "his (Schrade's) honesty has now been impugned."

Carpenter said he had received Schrade's pledge "to fulfill his party obligations" with respect to reapportionment next year and support for the governor's programs this year.

ARMY SAYS NO FATALITIES 1,000 Exposed to Deadly Gas

DENVER (AP) — At least 1,000 persons have been accidentally exposed to a deadly nerve gas at the Rocky Mountain Arsenal during a 17-year period beginning in 1953, the Army said Friday, but there were no fatalities and no one was permanently disabled.

The disclosure came during a tour of the sprawling arsenal northeast of Denver where 463,622 gallons of the deadly chemical warfare agent GB will be detoxified, starting in the spring of 1971.

An arsenal spokesman said the accidents occurred during manufacture of the gas — which began in 1953 and was stopped in 1957 — during filling of containers and in storage procedures. He said they happened primarily as a result of human error and malfunctions of equipment.

Maj. Elliott Lipson, deputy for the detoxification program, said no one was permanently disabled and few suffered serious temporary incapacitation.

The bulls and the bears aren't nearly as responsible for stock market losses as the bum steers.

The Army, under guidance by presidential order from the National Academy of Sciences, developed a program to destroy the GB agent at the arsenal after controversy spread into Congress over plans to ship the material cross-country for burial in the Atlantic Ocean.

Army guides stressed the safety of disposal operations during a four-hour briefing and tour of the arsenal.

GB, which remains in liquid form unless vaporized by heat or explosion, has been stored at the arsenal since 1953, Lipson pointed out, and arsenal spokesmen said there had never been a leak outside the immediate working area.

Lipson said there had been "very frequent, minor" leaks of nonlethal mustard gas, but there was "never a hazard." Stores of mustard gas also are to be destroyed.

Nerve gas attacks an enzyme in the blood stream that controls muscle function and when death occurs it is caused by failure of the muscles which control breathing.

Mustard gas, which was used in World War I, acts upon contact with the skin, causing large, incapacitating blisters.

The cluster bombs of GB now are stored in sheds, surrounded by 10-foot-high earthen revetments.

The $14.6 million program to detoxify the nerve and mustard gas will begin this fall with destruction of $2 million worth of mustard gas. That is to be completed by next spring, when work is to begin on detoxifying about $23 million worth of nerve gas. Destruction of GB is expected to take two years.

Lt. Col. Harold W. Shear, the arsenal commander, said it was difficult to assess the kill potential of nerve gas, because it varies with wind conditions, temperature, terrain and other factors.

The arsenal, which occupies 27 square miles northeast of Denver is under the takeoff pattern for the north-south runway at Stapleton International Airport.

Lipson conceded it is possible that an aircraft crashing into the sheds could rupture the stacked cluster bombs and release GB, but he said "there would be danger only in the immediate area."

Lipson said the Federal Aviation Administration has agreed to require planes flying over the storage areas to maintain an altitude of at least 7,000 feet above sea level. That would be about 1,600 feet above the arsenal, which lies at an elevation of about 5,200 feet.

Guatemalan High Official Kidnaped

GUATEMALA (AP) — The foreign minister of Guatemala, Alberto Fuentes Mohr, 42, was kidnaped Friday night and held for the ransom of a young university student arrested by the national police.

The kidnapers gave the government 24 hours to turn the youth over to the Mexican Embassy here in return for Mohr.

The kidnapers sent messages to Guatemala radio stations to broadcast their demand. They identified themselves as members of the Armed Rebel Forces, a Marxist-leaning paramilitary organization.

A government spokesman said "The government is making efforts to obtain the freedom of the minister." This indicated that authorities were planning to turn over the student, identified as Jose Giron Vincent Calvillo, to the Mexican Embassy. He was arrested Thursday.

A government spokesman said Mohr was going home in a chauffeur-driven car after meeting with observers from the Organization of American States sent to observe Sunday's general election.

"The chauffeur said the minister's car was intercepted and the minister, who always traveled unarmed, was forced to get into the kidnapers' car," the spokesman said.

Hit-Run Tactics Take Over

By BILL HOMER
Staff Writer

Student riots struck the University of California at Santa Barbara area for the third straight day late Friday.

California Highway Patrol officers, sheriff's deputies and National Guardsmen battled rock, bottle and Molotov cocktail-armed mobs of up to 50 persons each, and more guard troops were poised to enter the area.

Lt. Wally Haas, of the Santa Barbara County Sheriff's Department, said Friday's first instances of violence at the university area north of the seacoast resort city were reported at about 6:30 p.m. amid light rain.

Spokesmen for the California Military Department in Sacramento said National Guard units throughout the state had been alerted for possible replacement duty in the event the 600 guardsmen at the scene have to be relieved.

THREE HUNDRED men from Glendale's 1st Battalion, 160th Infantry, and another 300 men from the Santa Barbara area's 1st Battalion, 144th Artillery, were rushed to the scene at about 7 a.m. Friday.

Gov. Ronald Reagan declared a formal state of emergency at the strife-torn campus shortly after midnight Friday, ordering the National Guard into the area to assist deputies and CHP officers.

In addition to more than 300 CHP officers and 50 Santa Barbara County deputies, about 20 sheriff's deputies from Ventura County were at the scene, Lt. Haas said.

Faced with massive government force, groups of from 25 to 50 rioters used hit-and-run tactics to harass guardsmen and lawmen at the Isla Vista apartment and shopping complex near the UCSB campus in suburban Goleta, Lt. Haas reported.

Authorities ordered a sweep of the area shortly after 6:30 p.m., he said. Ten persons were arrested during that action.

Another 15 persons — one caught with a firebomb in his hand — were arrested in a second sweep that began shortly after 8:45 p.m., Lt. Haas reported.

NO INJURIES were reported by rioters, lawmen or guardsmen in the disturbance late Friday, said Haas, who reported authorities

FIND BODY IN ZOO, MAULED BY BEARS

FRESNO (UPI) — Two female polar bears apparently attacked and killed a transient found in their pit at Roeding Park Zoo Friday.

The mauled body of Carl J. Martin, 52, was discovered in the dry moat surrounding the bear pit shortly after the zoo opened Friday morning.

The Fresno County coroner's office said that while the damage caused by the full-grown, 600-pound bears would have been sufficient to cause death, it was not yet known whether the victim was dead before his body was mauled by the animals.

Dr. Paul Chaffee, Roeding Park Zoo director, said the victim apparently either hid in the zoo before closing time or climbed over a fence during the night.

He then apparently climbed a four-foot wall to get into the bear grotto.

PEOPLE IN THE NEWS JFK Assassin 'Suspect' Sues for $5 Million

Clay L. Shaw filed a $5-million suit Friday against New Orleans District Attorney Jim Garrison for an "illegal, unwarranted, fraudulent and useless" investigation of the assassination of President John F. Kennedy. Shaw was acquitted March 1, 1969, of Garrison's charges that he conspired to assassinate Kennedy.

The suit accused Garrison and the other defendants of knowingly soliciting and using perjured testimony in the prosecution of Shaw and of drugging, hypnotizing and bribing witnesses to obtain false testimony.

Besides Garrison, the suit also named as defendants Cecil M. Shillstone, Willard E. Robertson, Joseph M. Rault Jr. and Perry Raymond Russo. Shillstone, Robertson and Rault are wealthy New Orleans businessmen who headed a group called Truth and Consequences Inc., which was formed to provide financial backing for the Garrison investigation.

Russo was the prosecution's star witness in Shaw's preliminary hearing in 1967 and his trial last year. He testified in the preliminary hearing that he attended a party at which Shaw, Lee Harvey Oswald and others conspired to kill the President.

Shaw's suit cited the Warren Report's conclusion that Oswald acted alone in killing Kennedy in Dallas Nov. 22, 1963. The suit said Russo also was unable at the trial to make a positive identification of Shaw as a conspirator.

DEAD AT 120

Tatsumie DuPea, a Paiute Indian who rode in a helicopter when she was 111 years old and was often called the oldest woman in the state, died Friday in Los Angeles at 120. She shared her recipe for longevity with anyone who would listen and it was as simple as it was unusual: no long range plans, lean meats, fried bananas, and for drinking—juice of pink beans. She was born near Long Pine on July 26, 1849.

'NONSENSE'

Officials Friday described as "sheer nonsense" reports that Sen. Edward M. Kennedy and his wife, Joan, will be officially snubbed during their visit in Dublin next week. "Sen. Kennedy will be met Monday by the chief of protocol on his arrival," said an official. "A minister of state will accompany him to the Kennedy Memorial Park, he will be honor guest at a government lunch, and the president of Ireland will be represented."

PUEBLO DEATH

An Anderson County, S.C., coroner Friday said William D. Scarborough, one of the Pueblo crewmen imprisoned by North Korea for almost a year, apparently died accidentally. Scarborough, 29, died of carbon monoxide poisoning and the investigation into the death is continuing. Police said Scarborough had been working on the car and apparently had the heater on to keep warm.

NO OVERTIME

Pittsburgh Mayor Peter Francis Flaherty's economy ax has hit the Irish. The cost-conscious Irishman says he won't pay overtime for the 60 members of the police and firemen's band to march in the annual St. Patrick's Day parade. Police Supt. Stephen Joyce says there aren't enough volunteers to present a "reasonable unit."

Senate Cuts HEW Bill $347 Million

WASHINGTON — Republicans and Southern Democrats teamed up in the Senate Friday to cut $347 million from a HEW spending bill in hope President Nixon will not veto it again. On a 45-40 vote, members approved a 2-per-cent reduction in the bill as passed by the House, cutting it from $19.4 billion to $19 billion. That figure still was $232 million above the compromise that Nixon suggested.

Sen. Norris Cotton, R-N.H., who sponsored the cut, said Nixon had not promised to sign the new Senate version.

After the vote, the White House said Nixon was "gratified" that the new version of the appropriation was more in line with his original proposal.

Nixon Seeks New Labor Powers

WASHINGTON — President Nixon asked Congress Friday for greater emergency powers to deal with labor disputes in the transportation industry, including a binding settlement plan that union leaders already have rejected as compulsory arbitration. Nixon's message reiterated his belief that the government should stay out of labor disputes whenever possible. But, he said, "when the public interest requires that the government step in, then it should do so through procedures which bring the current conflict to an equitable conclusion without weakening the self-reliance of future bargainers."

Double Oil Spill in Florida

JACKSONVILLE — The Florida peninsula was hit from both sides Friday with two new pollution cases — an oil spill in the St. Johns River on the East Coast and an asphalt slick that fouled beaches at St. Marks on the Gulf side. "The river looks like molasses," said Lt. Gov. Ray Osborne after flying over the six mile-long oil trail in the St. Johns. Eight miles of beach around a wildlife preserve was fouled by the petroleum asphalt that floated ashore at St. Marks.

Laos War 'Secrecy' Hit

WASHINGTON — Sen. Robert C. Byrd, D-W. Va., said Friday the Administration should reveal the extent of U.S. involvement in Laos, saying he questions the wisdom of "laying American lives on the line" in a secret war. Sen. Stuart Symington, D-Mo., said secrecy "can only compound the difficult problem we already face."

Airlines Charged With Pollution

NEW YORK — Eleven foreign airlines operating at Kennedy Airport were served summonses and complaints Friday by the state attorney general's office charging them with polluting New York's air. The airlines have 20 days in which to answer the summonses the attorney general's office said.

BILL FOR NEWSMEN

WASHINGTON — Rep. Richard L. Ottinger, D-N.Y., said Friday he will introduce a bill to protect newsmen from forced disclosure of confidential information or the source of that information. Ottinger told a news conference that "the threat of a new McCarthyism has become very real," he said. He said the threat came "through a vice president bent on bullying the news media into a submissive attitude toward Administration policies, through an attorney general who seeks to rip up the Bill of Rights he has sworn to uphold and defend." Ottinger said his planned bill, called a newsmen's privilege act "is a direct response to the attorney general's recent attempts to subpoena the notes, tape recordings and photographs of the working press."

Reds Apply More Pressure on Saigon

Combined News Services

SAIGON — Communist forces applied offensive pressure directly against Saigon Friday night, assaulting a South Vietnamese militia post, damaging two military buildings with bombs and shelling the Bien Hoa airbase outside the city. The assault on the militia post, which touched off a 50-minute battle, was the first direct ground attack within the capital in four months.

Government spokesmen said the bodies of two Viet Cong men, were found after the attack. The Viet Cong used small arms and fired two rocket-propelled grenades in the attack five miles southwest of Saigon. Spokesmen said five militiamen were wounded in the fighting which ended after 50 minutes when the Viet Cong force dispersed. The attack was the first within the city limits since last Nov. 7.

Peace Talks at Lowest Point

PARIS — Allied diplomats said Friday Communist intransigence has pushed the Vietnam peace conference down to the lowest point since its start 13 months ago. The diplomats said that barring a dramatic reversal on the part of the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong the outlook for progress for the meetings was "very bleak."

Reds Near Key Laos Stronghold

VIENTIANE — North Vietnamese troops have advanced to within nine miles of Long Cheng, one of the government's last two strongholds west of the Plain of Jars. Laos, reports reaching Vientiane said Friday. A North Vietnamese battalion was reported still on the move toward the town, which is headquarters for Gen. Vang Pao's 10,000-man army of Meo tribesmen, and toward Sam Thong, an air supply base for northern Laos.

Israel Jets Hit Egyptian Sites

TEL AVIV — Israeli jets blasted Egyptian positions along the Suez Canal Friday, killing at least two Egyptian soldiers and wounding four others. In the Israeli-occupied Gaza Strip, guerrilla grenade attacks killed a boy and wounded 39 other persons.

Jet Blast Suspects Identified

BERN — Authorities launched a nationwide search Friday for two Jordanians in connection with explosions aboard a Swissair jet that crashed last Saturday and an Austrian airliner that was forced to make an emergency landing in Frankfurt. The crash of the Swiss plane took 47 lives. The two were identified as Sufian Quadoumi and Mussau Jawher, both of Amman.

FOUQUET

Ronald Fouquet pleaded innocent Friday to charges that he beat his wife's 5-year-old son to death. Superior Court Judge William L. Ritz accepted the plea after refusing the 31-year-old mechanic's motion to dismiss the murder indictment against him. Ritz scheduled a trial for March 9. A hunter found the body of Jeffery Lansdown north of Los Angeles in October 1966 about a month after the boy's death. The boy's mother, Betty Lansdown Fouquet, testified before the grand jury that indicted Fouquet, who is in jail in Los Angeles.

APOLLO TOUR

Apollo 12 astronauts Charles Conrad, Richard F. Gordon and Alan Bean, arrived in Helsinki Friday with their wives on a good will trip to Finland that includes a meeting with President Urho Kekkonen. The astronauts flew to Helsinki from Copenhagen.

2ND DIONNE QUINT MARIE DIES AT 35

Mrs. Marie Houle, one of the Dionne quintuplets, died Friday in Montreal following a brief illness. Mrs. Houle, second of the quintts to die, was 35. She was married to Andre Houle of Montreal. A sister, Emilie died in 1954.

The four who then survived — Marie, Annette, Cecile and Yvonne — celebrated their 35th birthdays last May 28. Yvonne is single. Annette and Cecile were married in 1957. Cecile and her husband, Philippe Langlois, have four children but have separated.

Annette and her husband, finance company executive Germaine Allard, have three sons and live in St. Bruno. The girls' parents, Elzire and Olliva Dionne, still live in Callander, Ont., 12 miles south of North Bay, where the five girls were born in 1934.

QUINT AILING

The three-day-old Kienast quintuplets continued making progress Friday, although one has developed a respiratory difficulty. Babies Hospital of Columbia Presbyterian Medical Center in N.Y., said despite the breathing difficulty the second-born, a girl, was satisfactory. The quintts, three girls and two boys, were born to Margaret Kienast, 27, and her husband William, 38, a plastics salesman of Liberty Corner, N.J. Mrs. Kienast, as she did with her first two children, used fertility drugs.

Fight Preceded Death, Court Told

Trial opened in Superior Court Friday for a 27-year-old Navy petty officer charged with murdering his ex-wife in West Long Beach last October.

San Pedro Death Due 2nd Probe

Detectives who investigated the mysterious stabbing death of Donald Lee McKendree, 24, of Cudahy, at a San Pedro house party on January 31 will submit the case to the district attorney's office Monday, for the second time, for possible prosecution.

A coroner's inquest jury split five to two Friday after hearing testimony about the party and a knife struggle between McKendree and a 19-year-old Buena Park girl. Five jurors said McKendree came to his death "at the hands of another person," while the other two jurors held that the death was accidental.

Harbor Division detectives had arrested two men and a woman on suspicion of murder, in connection with the case, but released all three after questioning. In the month since the fatal stabbing, one other witness has died from a narcotics overdose, officers said Friday, and still two others have been jailed in a robbery investigation in the Lynwood area.

Only two days before he was fatally stabbed, McKendree received minor injuries when he jumped from the brink of a bluff while under influence of drugs, detectives were told by one of the "pill-party" guests.

"He thought he could fly," the informant told investigators.

Two men brought the stabbing victim, unconscious, to a San Pedro hospital at midnight January 31 and told a story — later changed — of finding him lying beside a road. Police said the two had been guests along with McKendree and others at a party at 1763 West 26th Street, San Pedro.

San Pedro Loan Association Sold

Fidelity Federal Savings and Loan Association in Glendale has acquired Fishermen and Merchants Savings and Loan in San Pedro, it was announced Friday by Spencer Scott, Fidelity president.

The acquisition is the fourth for Fidelity Federal within the past three months. It brings Fidelity Federal's assets over the $500 million mark and gives the association a total of eight offices in Los Angeles and Orange Counties, including one in Long Beach.

The Federal Home Loan Bank Board has approved the acquisition and it becomes effective Sunday, Scott said. Terms of the acquisition of the shareholder-owned, state-chartered San Pedro association were not disclosed.

James L. Walling, vice president and managing officer of Fishermen and Merchants, has been appointed vice president by Fidelity Federal and manager of the San Pedro regional office. The association will continue to occupy the former Fishermen and Merchants building, a harbor area landmark at 2900 S. Western Ave.

Officer Surprises, Shoots 'Visitors'

A Los Angeles police officer surprised two persons — one a Long Beach man — burgling his Venice area home and wounded both with a single shot from his .45-caliber pistol, detectives said Friday.

Officer Jack Hindall, 30, a nine-year veteran of the force, found the back door to his home ajar when he returned home from work at the Valley Services Division, drew his firearm, and entered.

Inside the house he saw a man and woman running

Mrs. Margaret Ann Lamarr, 27.

Deputy Dist. Atty. Robert Sills said he'll seek a first-degree murder conviction in the case, which is being heard without jury by Judge John Shea.

RAE'S ATTORNEY, Albert C. S. Ramsey, said Rae's actions were those of a textbook case of crime committed in the heat of passion, and that he'll seek a voluntary manslaughter judgment.

At the trial Friday, Detective Sgt. David Bauer, of the Long Beach Police Department's homicide detail, and Officer Kenneth Lee Edwards told of finding the body in Mrs. Lamarr's blood-spattered kitchen, 2345 Santa Fe Ave.

In testimony in Department D Friday, four neighbors said they heard a fight and a loud thud shortly before midnight on the day of the murder.

Dr. D. Ambrosio, a pathologist, said death was due to massive hemorrhaging caused by multiple stab wounds.

RAE, WHO WAS stationed at the Mira Mar Naval Air Station in San Diego County, is the father of Mrs. Lamarr's son, Russell, 8, and daughter, Carolyn, 7.

Richard Carr, a witness, who lives in the apartment beneath the one in which the slaying occurred, said he had seen Rae at about 11:15 p.m. Oct. 26 outside his back window. Nearly a half-hour later, Carr said, he saw a man resembling Rae leave the apartment house's courtyard area with a pajama-clad child.

The trial is set to resume at 10:30 a.m. Monday.

Deadline Set for Dog Tags

Sunday is the deadline for 1970 dog licenses, according to Ernest E. Allee, director of the Long Beach Animal Shelter.

A 100 per cent penalty will be assessed against persons applying after Sunday, raising the fee from $3 to $6, Allee said.

Valid rabies inoculation certificate must be shown upon application.

The shelter will issue licenses today and Sunday from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. at 3001 E. Willow St.

CANDIDATE AT CSLB Brown Calls U.S. 'Death-Oriented'

By WALT MURRAY
Staff Writer

The United States has become a death-oriented nation with no hope for the younger generation, Democratic senatorial candidate George Brown charged at California State College at Long Beach Friday.

But Rep. Brown, D-Monterey Park, told students they are "a bunch of idiots if they think they can change things by political violence."

More than 3,000 students gathered at the campus speakers platform to hear Brown, who said he was "the only man in Congress who has never voted a penny for the war or the draft."

THE AUDIENCE seemed evenly divided in a sometimes emotional debate between Brown and campus activists during a question-and-answer session after the speech.

Brown, who is battling Rep. John Tunney for the Democratic senatorial nomination, took as his topic the title of CSLB's controversial sociology class, "Social Myths in Contemporary America."

"We live in a world of myths," he said. "The greatest myth is the myth of 'progress.' Unless we bring a halt to 'progress,' this country is going to be destroyed."

"This country defines 'progress' by how many people it can kill, how much pollution it can create, how many material things it can collect."

Brown said the Chicago Seven trial was "a trial of political crimes and therefore unconstitutional."

HE DREW the greatest applause when he said the war "should have been ended yesterday" but that

FLEET EXERCISE SLATED

Associated Press

More than 40 U.S. Navy ships and three from Canada will take part in an eight-day Pacific fleet exercise beginning Monday off the Southern California coast.

Aircraft squadrons from the Bon Homme Richard will attack targets in the Chocolate Mountain Range in Imperial County and targets at the 29 Palms Marine Base.

Navy destroyers and frigates will bombard targets on San Clemente Island and the submarines Sea Fox and Pomfret will provide antisubmarine warfare training.

Carrier-based aircraft and surface minesweepers will conduct mine warfare training.

Two Canadian Navy destroyer escorts, Provider and McKenzie, and the Canadian supply ship Yukon, all from Esquimalt, B.C., will participate.

Vice Adm. I. C. Kidd Jr., U.S. First Fleet commander, will have overall command of the exercise aboard the guided missile frigate Halsey.

WOULD INCREASE STATE SUPPORT School Tax Initiative Qualifies

SACRAMENTO — A tax-reform initiative sponsored by California teachers and county officials has qualified for the June primary ballot and the measure's backers said Friday they are confident it will win voter approval.

Assistant Secretary of State H. P. (Pat) Sullivan reported the measure qualified for the June 2 ballot as Prop. 8.

Sponsored by the California Teachers Association and the County Supervisors Association of California, the amendment would force the state to come up with about $1.13 billion in replacement revenue for the 1970-71 fiscal year.

The initiative would amend the State Constitution to have the state pay half the cost of supporting public schools and at least 90 per cent of all the welfare costs to local government.

"We're just tickled to death it has qualified," said Calvin J. Rossi, lobbyist for the California Teachers Association, after he learned the measure qualified with 539,536 signatures, almost 20,000 more than the 520,276 required.

Rossi said he anticipates opposition from Gov. Ronald Reagan, who once termed the measure "a fraud upon the people."

The Republican governor's own tax reform plan — calling for higher sales and income taxes to finance reductions in the property tax — will be introduced next week.

Rossi said he is "very, very optimistic" California's voters will endorse Prop. 8 as the "first, clear-cut, concrete tax reform and tax relief" proposal to reach them.

The measure had the support of the County Supervisors Association of California as well as the California Teachers Association.

Rossi said he has never understood Reagan's "fraud" allegation. He pledged advocates of the proposition would wage a "factual" campaign for its passage.

Rossi said the Legislature might advance one or another tax relief plans designed to compete with the proposition.

The measure initially failed to qualify earlier this year for lack of signatures. Now, Rossi said, the sponsors have more than the 539,536 signatures at which Sullivan declared the measure qualified.

STUDENT RIOTS

ities were optimistic about the chances of the violence subsiding over the weekend.

He said officials were keeping a wary eye, however, on the possibility of new rioting Monday.

Maj. Gen. Charles A. Ott, commander of the National Guard force at the scene, said troops were deployed "to secure the area and maintain law and order and cooperation with civilian authorities."

Ott said the guardsmen were carrying sidearms or rifles and had ammunition. Their weapons were not loaded, he said.

The district and the campus were quiet during the day Friday. Rain began falling at noon.

A sophomore student, Harvey Levin, 19, told a news conference he had collected 4,208 signatures — about one-third of the student body — on a petition condemning violence by police and youths as self-defeating.

At least 83 persons, mostly students, have been arrested during the violence. Twenty-seven police officers and sheriff's deputies were injured, four requiring hospitalization. One student hit by a car during a melee before dawn Friday was hospitalized, and a university employee was wounded at a roadblock by lawmen. Spokesmen for the major hospitals said less than 10 students have been treated for injuries during the three days.

Vernon I. Cheadle, chancellor of the university, said at a late morning news conference that any member of the student body, faculty or staff convicted of participating in the rampage will be suspended.

THE ACTION was a reversal of the university's previous policy of letting civil authorities mete out punishment for off-campus violence.

Cheadle, who said no suspensions have yet been made, added that an emergency county ordinance banning gatherings or "parades" of more than three persons had been extended to the campus. A dusk-to-dawn curfew remained in effect in the off-campus student area.

Gov. Reagan, who said "we will provide everything that needs providing" to halt the violence, called in the National Guard early Friday after the third night of disorder. About 300 troops were bivouacked immediately in the glass-strewn Isla Vista district and another 300 men arrived from Los Angeles County.

Reagan took the action as casualties mounted on both sides after three straight nights of student disruptions which broke out after an appearance by "Chicago Seven" defense attorney William Kunstler.

The governor brought in the guard after Sheriff James Webster requested assistance to quell rock and bottle throwing melees that broke out between lawmen and up to 1,200 students.

Reagan also has asked the state attorney general to investigate whether Kunstler had crossed state lines to incite a riot when he spoke at UCSB Wednesday.

Sixteen jeep-loads of soldiers armed with rifles and bayonets drove through the area at 9:30 a.m. Friday in a show of force. There were no incidents and the campus itself was reported quiet. Classes were being held as usual.

IN CONTRAST to Wednesday night's rampage when a bank and a coin laundry were burned to the ground and 36 persons were arrested, Thursday night's battles were the hit-run type.

Students and so-called street people hurled rocks and bottles at police and then fell back to nearby apartments when reinforcements arrived. The melees involved an estimated 1,200 persons at most.

Seven police officers and two students were injured and 16 persons were arrested. Tear gas was used by the police.

Winslow C. Tisdell, 35, of Goleta, a technician for UCSB's dramatic arts department, was shot in the shoulder twice Thursday night as he drove off the campus.

Tisdell told university officials rocks were thrown at his car and he heard shots, so he accelerated, running a road block at an entrance to the campus. Officers stationed there were believed to have fired one of the shots and the other apparently was fired by a sniper, university officials said.

Kunstler addressed more than 5,000 students Wednesday and exhorted them to make the defendants at the Chicago trial a symbol.

"I think we have to show the so-called Establishment a voice that's strong and clear and then they'll have to judge their future course accordingly," he said.

Kunstler did not directly advocate violence in his midafternoon speech.

The six-hour rampage in which a $330,000 branch of the Bank of America was set afire began after dark.

BANK OFFICIALS Friday offered up to $25,000 in rewards for the arrest and conviction of the persons responsible for burning down the branch bank.

Samuel B. Stewart, vice chairman of the bank's board of directors, said $1,000 will be offered for each person convicted of complicity in the incident.

He said the bank has loaned $1.5 million to UCSB students and has "made more student loans than any other institution in the country."

The UCSB campus has become a vocal center of dissent in the nine-campus University of California system.

Most of the school's 13,800 students either live on the campus or in adjacent Isla Vista.

Greg Knell, vice president of the student body and a leading dissident, estimated 75 to 80 per cent of the Isla Vista residents are "felons" because of drug use.

Drug arrests in the area, which is in the county and has no local government, have caused tension between students and the sheriff's department, which is charged with policing the district.

During the past year, much of the student body has become "radicalized" during controversies over black studies, and lately, the dismissal of a popular assistant professor in anthropology.

Dr. William L. Allen, 33, claimed his contract was not renewed because he wore long hair and taught that "Latin American revolutions are almost exclusively the result of U.S. capitalist intrusion into the areas."

Three days of demonstrations on the campus in late January, resulting in 20 arrests, failed to sway the administration to rehire Allen or hold an open hearing on the matter.

Tax Plan Ready for Assembly

SACRAMENTO (U) — Assembly Speaker Robert T. Monagan announced Friday that Gov. Reagan's $1-billion tax-reform program will be introduced in the Legislature Wednesday.

Monagan, R-Tracy, said he thinks the measures "have a good chance of being approved by the legislature" but will not "breeze" through.

Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Anselmo, chairman of the Assembly Revenue and Taxation Committee, will introduce the program, embodied in four bills.

The bills impose personal state income tax withholding and boost the sales tax by 1 per cent.

An Uneasy Peace Won at Colleges Attempt to Ban Kunstler From Speech in L.A. Fails

By JIM HYNES
Staff Writer

An uneasy peace settled over both UCLA and California State College at Fullerton late Friday after student disruptions at both campuses.

Latest outbreak of violence occurred at UCLA Friday when more than 300 persons stormed the administration building, held a brief sit-in and presented a list of demands to Vice Chancellor David S. Saxon.

THE UCLA demonstration followed two days of disruption at CSF in which several hundred students battled police over the arrests of two other students charged with disturbing a speech on campus by Gov. Ronald Reagan.

The Orange County campus remained relatively calm Friday, but police were prepared to return to the school Monday in the event that threatened resumption of demonstrations materialized.

The FSC debacle Thursday in which students hurled rocks and light bulbs at rifle and club-armed police in a dispute over possession of a campus building, stemmed from the arrests of the two students following Gov. Reagan's Feb. 19th speech at the college.

At the UCLA campus in Westwood, meanwhile, 300 demonstrators stormed the administration building following a noon rally, touching off a tactical alert by Los Angeles police.

A UCLA SPOKESMAN said the rally was called to whip up student support for demands that charges against other students cited for recent rioting in Westwood be dropped by city and university authorities.

Included in the requests presented to Saxon just prior to withdrawal from the administration building by the demonstrators were demands that:

—All charges against the students cited in connection with off campus rallies and demonstrations be dropped.

The university end cooperation with the Los Angeles Police Department and Los Angeles County District Attorney's Office in identification and prosecution of students involved in UCLA-area demonstrations.

Saxon told the students none of the responses to their demands were to be interpreted as indicating the university is not subject to local, state and national laws concerning the maintenance of peace, or has any voice in determining which laws are to be observed and which are not.

Parked Car Rifled

Burglars broke into the trunk of an auto owned by Wayne Heyden, of Tustin, while it was parked in a lot at California State College at Long Beach and stole a Ure and 30 stereo tapes valued at $250, police said Friday.

Combined Wire Services

Efforts by Los Angeles Police Chief Edward Davis to prevent "Chicago Seven" attorney William Kunstler from speaking "anywhere in Los Angeles" were halted Friday in the city attorney's office.

But his scheduled Sunday speech at San Fernando Valley State College was canceled by the college president on the basis of possible danger to public safety.

Meanwhile, Democratic gubernatorial candidate Jess Unruh accused Gov. Ronald Reagan of failing to take preventive action to ward off violence at UC Santa Barbara, where Kunstler spoke Wednesday.

'Fag Revolt' Hit by U.S. Attorney

CHICAGO (UPI) — The nation's young people are being lost to a "freaking fag revolution," the chief prosecutor in the trial of the "Chicago Seven" says.

In a flurry of post trial activity, U.S. Attorney Thomas A. Foran Thursday and Friday unleashed stinging denunciations of the defendants and their attorneys in the riot conspiracy trial.

THE SEVEN radical activists were in Cook County Jail still awaiting the outcome of their appeal for bond both on convictions for contempt of court and for crossing state lines with the intent of inciting a riot at the 1968 Democratic National Convention.

"Bobby Seale had more guts and more charisma than any of them and he was the only one I don't think was a fag," Foran told the boosters club of a Roman Catholic high school Thursday night.

The word "fag" is slang for homosexual.

Seale, national chairman of the Black Panther Party, was severed from the riot case and sentenced to four years for contempt of court following uproarious courtroom outbursts against U.S. District Court Judge Julius J. Hoffman.

"We've lost our kids to the freaking fag revolution and we've got to reach out for them," Foran told the parents of the high school students.

FORAN SAID that defendant Abbie Hoffman was "scummy but clever," David Dellinger was a "sneak" and the defense attorneys were "mouth-pieces."

As Seale's outbursts reached their climactic point, the Black Panther was gagged and shackled in the courtroom by Judge Hoffman in an effort to quiet him so the trial could go on.

Foran said the gagging and shackling "was the most horrible sight I've ever seen in a courtroom."

Albert Juarez, a student at California State College at Los Angeles who served in the Army in Germany, said an antiwar-oriented chicano veterans association is being formed to protest the channeling of national resources into the war effort instead of toward solving problems in the Mexican-American community.

"While we were over there," he said, "we weren't here a p p y about student demonstrations, but as we come home, we begin to see the harsh realities."

Chicanos to March in Antiwar Protest

A protest march aimed against the Vietnam war and "the disproportionate number of chicano war dead" will be held today in East Los Angeles.

Bill Sancedo, member of the sponsoring Chicano Moratorium Committee, said the marchers will gather in Atlantic Park at noon and walk down Whittier Boulevard to Laguna Park.

Speakers will include chicano leaders Sal Castro, Corky Gonzales and Ramon Tijerena.

SCHOOL TENSION Youths Surround L.B. Blacks' Car

By TOM WILLMAN
Staff Writer

A rock-throwing crowd of about 150 white youths, shouting racial insults at a black family, was dispersed by police Friday near a Long Beach junior high school after a brief series of fistfights.

Four persons were arrested, including three members of the family whose car was twice surrounded by the crowd near Thomas Jefferson Junior High School, 750 Euclid Ave., police said.

Ulysses Roberson, 19, of 1879 California Ave., was arrested on suspicion of battery on a police officer. The three others arrested were juveniles, according to Officer Richard Wood.

Two of the juveniles were charged with disturbing the peace, while the third was booked on suspicion of carrying a concealed weapon, he said.

The disturbance began about 3:45 p.m. in the vicinity of Seventh Street and Redondo Avenue, police said, and ended shortly after 4 p.m. one block to the east.

ACCORDING TO Mrs. Helen McLucas, whose car had two windows smashed by rocks thrown from the crowd, it was the third day of clashes with racial overtones near the school grounds.

Mrs. McLucas encountered the crowd as she waited with Roberson — her son — in her automobile for two daughters and a son who attend the junior high school, she said.

The crowd moved one block to the east, she said, after appeals to "go home" from Warren Anderson, Jefferson's vice-principal.

Still shouting racial slurs, the crowd surrounded the automobile again after Mrs. McLucas said she attempted to approach the school official to point out "a ringleader" of the group.

Police said they had separated the crowd from the car when one of the youths leaped from the auto, "ran across the street and hit one of the kids" near the edge of the group.

TWO OTHERS from the car, including Roberson, were arrested for striking plainclothes officers following the first arrest, police said.

According to Mrs. McLucas, the chain of disturbances began Wednesday with a fistfight between a black girl and a white girl at a take-out restaurant near the junior high school.

Thursday, Mrs. McLucas said, one of her daughters had to seek escort from an older brother after she and a girlfriend were warned by a white student "they were going to kick her black ass."

That day, said the woman, she was also greeted with racial slurs when she arrived to pick up her children.

Friday, Mrs. McLucas said she consulted the school's vice-principal for the second time over what she felt were signs of racial strife at the campus.

ANDERSON assured her "everything was taken care of," she said, and in a later phone conversation told her he could find no one with knowledge of a threat to her daughter.

Interviewed after the disturbance Friday, Anderson said he felt the trouble "not necessarily" the result of racial tension.

Queries were referred to Dale F. Ely, attendance supervisor of the school district's child welfare service, who said: "We have these problems with kids at times," and such incidents sometimes spill off the school grounds.

Police released the three juveniles in custody of their parents Friday night. Roberson will be held without bail on the felony charge until probable arraignment on Monday, police said.

Carswell's Credentials Blasted

Judiciary Panelists Warn Confirmation 'Discredit to Court'

WASHINGTON (AP) — The four Senate Judiciary Committee Democrats who voted against the Supreme Court nomination of Judge G. Harrold Carswell said Friday his confirmation "would discredit the Senate and the Court."

"Most important, it would be a disservice to the finest ideals of the American people," said the minority report filed by Sens. Philip A. Hart of Michigan, Birch Bayh of Indiana, Edward M. Kennedy of Massachusetts and Joseph D. Tydings of Maryland.

THEY NOT only described the 50-year-old Tallahassee, Fla., judge as insensitive to human rights but said also that as a practicing attorney, a government prosecutor and a jurist he has failed to distinguish himself.

The Judiciary Committee earlier this month favorably reported Carswell's nomination by a 13-4 vote. Its majority report, previously made public, described him as fully qualified to serve on the Supreme Court and said he had a record of balance and even-handedness in civil rights cases.

Sens. Quentin N. Burdick, D-N.D., and Charles McC. Mathias, R-Md., who voted with the committee majority, filed separate statements leaving open the question of whether they will vote for confirmation in the Senate.

Burdick said he concluded "Judge Carswell's qualifications are sufficient to report the nomination to the Senate."

MATHIAS said he would not have chosen Carswell, now a judge on the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals, but the committee's hearing record did "not go so far as to be conclusive in establishing personal or judicial bias."

He added that the President and his nominee "ought not to be denied their day in court."

President Nixon submitted Carswell's nomination on Jan. 19, following the Senate's rejection by a 55-45 vote last November of his first choice for the court post, Circuit Judge Clement F. Haynsworth Jr.

The nominations were to fill the vacancy created by the resignation last May of Justice Abe Fortas.

The four Democrats who joined in a minority report said Carswell's "credentials are too meager to justify confirmation." Instead of enhancing respect for the Supreme Court, they said, his confirmation would demean it.

Aside from Carswell's competence, they said, "His record indicates he is insensitive to human rights and has allowed his personal views and biases to invade the judicial process."

THE FOUR Democratic senators said also "his decisions and his courtroom demeanor have been openly hostile to the black, the poor, and the unpopular."

The majority report, in rejecting such charges, blamed them on lawyers dissatisfied with Carswell's rulings and said they had been contradicted by fellow judges, court attaches and others.

Tydings filed a lengthy separate statement expanding on his opposition to Carswell's nomination and describing the judge as "a mediocre man." He said "the hearings were enlightening, indeed shocking, but hardly reassuring."

"Judge Carswell was simply unable or unwilling to divorce his judicial functions from his personal prejudices."

YOUTH REVOLT 'REFLECTS CRISIS'

Man's Spirit Ill--Pompidou

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — French President Georges Pompidou said Friday the worldwide youth revolt is the reflection of "a crisis of civilization."

He said the crisis might be met by efforts to eliminate poverty and inequality throughout the world and by a renewal of man's spirit in the face of a philosophy of despair.

Pompidou and his wife attended a gala reception Friday night at the Palace of the Legion of Honor which had been searched carefully earlier in the day because of a bomb threat.

The FBI said an anonymous phone caller reported there was a bomb in the building but a search failed to uncover any explosives.

Pompidou discussed the youth rebellion and its meaning before 1,800 persons attending a Commonwealth Club of California luncheon.

The French president, who was a key figure in the French government smashing of the 1968 Paris student outbreaks, was introduced by Gov. Ronald Reagan, who earlier Friday called out National Guard troops to combat student rioters in Santa Barbara.

POMPIDOU spoke in French, but about half the audience heard a simultaneous translation of his remarks in English through radio earphones.

About 40 pro-Arab supporters of France's Middle East policy and a man carrying a Palestinian flag demonstrated outside the Fairmont Hotel on Nob Hill during the speech. Pompidou and his attractive wife paid no attention to them while entering and leaving the building. Earlier they had ignored pro-Israel demonstrators on two occasions during their San Francisco visit.

Pompidou and his entourage took an automobile tour of Chinatown and other parts of the city, including the Golden Gate bridge, after the speech.

A delegation of 15 American Jews made public a statement protesting France's Middle East policy on grounds it "encourages the Arab countries in their military designs against Israel."

The Jews objected to the French embargo against arms shipments to Israel and to the sale of 110 Mirage jet fighters to Libya.

POMPIDOU TOLD his luncheon audience the western democracies must eliminate poverty and inequality at home and provide aid to the underdeveloped world. But he said the future must have more than a materialistic meaning — that man must cure his spiritual ills if civilization is to survive.

"Yes, we must restore a meaning to men's actions, a meaning that is not only materialistic and utilitarian. Economic wealth must remain a means and not become an end in itself for society or for the individual. We need faith more than reason, a community spirit more than individualism, hope more than negation," Pompidou said.

Earlier, he took a 35-mile helicopter trip to Stanford University to tour its $114 million "atom smasher" and discuss education with campus administrators.

A crowd of 350 peaceful demonstrators chanted "sell Israel jets" as the French landed and "Shalom, shalom" as he left. The cheerful Pompidou, who was 100 yards away, ignored them.

POMPIDOU ATTENDS RECEPTION IN S.F.

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — French President Georges Pompidou and his wife attended a gala reception Friday night at the Palace of the Legion of Honor, a copy of its namesake in Paris.

The huge building was searched earlier in the day following a bomb threat. The FBI said an anonymous caller telephoned police and said a bomb was in the building.

A thorough search by police failed to find any explosives. The search was made before any of the 1,300 guests arrived.

Pompidou and his wife walked slowly down a 200-foot red carpet, greeting people with handshakes and nods.

About 75 members of the French Basque Club of San Francisco were lined up on each side of the carpet. They wore traditional native garb of white pants and shirts, red berets and green sashes.

Cullen Fights for Cut in State Gasoline Tax

United Press International

Democratic Assemblyman Mike Cullen said Friday he will try to make Gov. Ronald Reagan's tax-reform plan include a one-cent decrease in the gasoline tax.

The Long Beach legislator said the Assembly Revenue and Taxation Committee killed his bill which would have lowered the gas tax from seven cents to six cents a gallon.

Cullen said the Reagan administration, at the request of the Nixon Administration, is cutting back major highway construction projects.

He said legislative Analyst A. Alan Post estimated a $47.8 million surplus because some funds collected by the gas tax would not be spent.

"For no apparent reason, the state this year is attempting to overtax to build up a surplus in the motor vehicle fund," said Cullen.

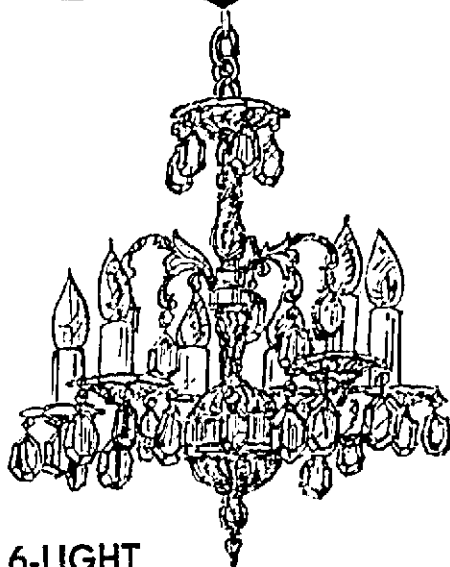

"It is irresponsible to hold the line on a seven-cent gasoline tax at a time when six cents would generate the revenues that are budgeted to be spent."

He said if Reagan's tax-revision plan reaches the Assembly floor he will ask that the one-cent-per-gallon reduction be included.

allow the administration to restore the one cent when federal construction funds are released.

Ticklish Art of Painting

By ROBERT H. MOTTRAM

SEATTLE (U) — Businessmen have found a new way to relax in this northwestern metropolis that calls itself the "Jet City." In growing numbers, and for a substantial fee, they are fingerprinting on the bodies of nude women.

The man who claims credit for the new pastime is Rick Hunter, 36, an ex-Marine who opened his fingerprinting and photography studio here in March. Now Hunter has eight girls on his payroll at Studio 99 sandwiched between a dry cleaner's and a TV repair shop in the metropolitan belt between Seattle and Tacoma.

establishments offering body painting for a price in the Seattle area.

A businessman seeking the creative solace of fingerpaints has to shell out $15 for the first 20 minutes of his model's time. The price goes up another $5 for each additional 15 minutes. Hunter honors all major credit cards.

"This is strictly on the up-and-up," says Hunter. "Nothing lewd is allowed. There's not painting anywhere it's annoying to the model."

When the job is done to his satisfaction, the businessman can record it forever with a camera provided by the studio as part of the fee. For varied effects, there are thousands of dollars worth of strobe and studio lighting provided. Or the customer can decorate his model with fluorescent paints and admire her under black light.

"Sometimes we have music come on," says Hunter. "and our girl can model the paint in dance form."

TYPICAL OF Hunter's model is Sam, a shapely, 21-year-old brunette who says she's ticklish "only some of the time." She says she likes the job "because you get to meet a lot of people."

Sam hopes to make enough money at modeling to attend a school of dance.

"Lot of guys come in and all they want to do is spread the paint around," says Sam. "But for some of them it's a real art. They make some pretty designs."

Hunter's relaxation-seekers range in age from over 80 down to those who ask

"how old you have to be to come in." They have to be 21.

"But most generally our customers are businessmen," says Hunter.

"You'd be amazed at how many real estate transactions have been closed in my place."

Hunter offers a "traffic hour" from 4:30 to 6 p.m. every day during which two friends can paint for the price of one.

ONCE A man has logged an hour's painting time he becomes a "club member" and gets to paint longer for the same price.

Hunter, who also is a electrician, a pilot and a skydiver, is married and has two children. His

AN ART FORM appreciated by tired businessmen is said to be fingerprinting — as demonstrated by studio owner Dick Hunter. Some executives prefer golf, but in rainy Seattle bodypainting studios are in demand. Hunter's Studio 99 is one where the aesthetically inclined may select any one of eight models for the practice.

The Fashion Hustlers Fleece You

By VERNON SCOTT

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Men, the hustlers of feminine fashion will fleece you of a minimum of a thousand dollars in the next year or so, according to couturier Ray Aghayan.

Aghayan designs feminine wardrobes for television and motion pictures, and in some cases male attire. His is a nominee for an Oscar this year for best costume design.

Aghayan said, "The midi (for middle of the calf) look is the coming thing in fashion. That means skirts will be about 12 inches above the floor or four inches or so below the knee."

With miniskirts five or six inches above the knee, it means entirely new wardrobes are required.

"Girls with good legs already are complaining about longer skirts," the designer said in his own boutique.

Aghayan is a small man who pays little attention to his own wardrobe. He wears open-necked shirts, a sweater or vest, comfortable slacks and shoes. Changes in fashion don't hit his bank account.

"The very short skirt," he continued, "is good-looking on the very young."

"When I design clothes for a TV actress I'm aware there may be as many as 25 million women watching and being influenced," he said.

GARDENING

By JOE LITTLEFIELD

Fertilize camellias. Fertilizer will just about have broken down for the plant roots to absorb it and start the bushes into growth for the new year.

Prune camellias as you cut the blossoms, or when they've just about finished blooming. Cut them wherever you think helps to shape the bushes. Cut just above a leaf, above a leafless bud or above a side branch.

Plant any kind of bulbs you find at the nursery. Set out bedding plants of all kinds such as sweet peas, snaps, stocks, larkspur, annual scabiosa, pansy, viola, Iceland poppy, calendula for sunny garden areas, and forget-me-not, English daisy, primroses for shade garden sectors.

Plant bare root roses, bare root shade fruit-and-flowering trees as well as cane berries, fruit and vegetables, while still available at the nursery.

NO DOUBT you've noticed we've rarely discussed orchids. Here's some information you'll find interesting whether you grow orchids or not. Water was especially formulated nearly two years ago for individual orchid growers by Sparkletts Drinking Water Company to limit some of the major problems connected with this rapidly expanding hobby.

The challenge of nursing delicate seedlings into rare and beautiful tropical blossoms remains, but the way has been made considerably easier, according to those who have experimented with special Sparkletts formulas.

Orchid seeds must be germinated in sterilized flasks under laboratory conditions. They should be transplanted when the seedlings are a year old and have grown perhaps an inch high. Replanting in "flats" or pots is a most crucial stage, but if the seedlings survive this "shock" and subsequent problems of growth, they begin bearing blooms in three to five years.

Growers have found that normal tap water leaves a residue of sodium salts in the flats which quickly kills the delicate root structure of most seedlings and causes leaf burn when used for surviving plants replanted in mix. A possible answer was use of a demineralized or pure water.

EXPERIMENTS by Sparkletts, however, indicate this is not the case. The peculiar needs of orchids require a mineral content, minus sodium. So Sparkletts worked out a special system installed on a customer's tap water line for eliminating the sodium and replacing it with calcium and other minerals. Since tap water coming from many sources is not uniform, and there is more sodium in some sections of the Southland than others, each orchid grower requires a special "blend" of water for the best results.

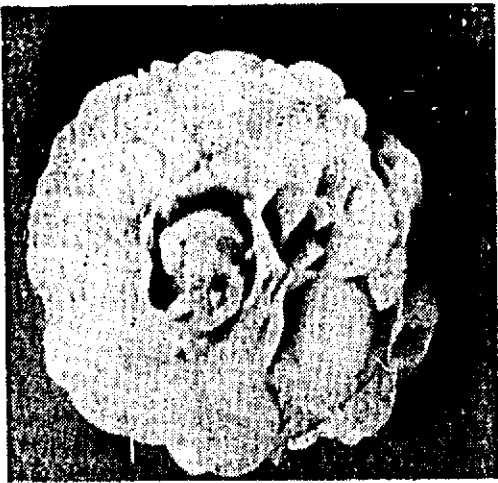

Sodium was a particular problem to cymbidium fancier Clarence Mason, chemistry teacher at Marina High School in Huntington Beach for the past 22 years.

"Salt water intrusion is a fairly serious problem in our area," declares Mason, who is a member of three societies — the Orange County Orchid Society, the South Coast Orchid Society and the Long Beach Orchid Society.

"Living close to the ocean, I've long had problems with leaf damage as well as with bulbs which have not grown to full size.

"USING THE new Sparkletts formula since last October," he relates, "there is now very little noticeable leaf damage, new growths are considerably larger, with the blossoms of better quality."

Goal of Ernest Campuzano, a Los Angeles lithographer who resides in Norwalk, has been to nurture his hybrid cattleya to the point where perhaps four Address all questions to Garden Editor, Independent, Press-Telegram, 604 Pine Ave., Long Beach, Calif. 90801. No stamps or self-addressed envelopes, please. Answers are given only in this column.

Q. Please hurry an answer. Why the good crop of mushrooms in a lawn and flower beds?

A. Lacking information on conditions of your lawn, all I can say is, if tree is taken out, during a process of decay roots spout forth mushrooms. Shavings worked into soil sometimes also send forth mushrooms as do coarse bark.

Q. Where can we purchase seed of Double Dip geranium, and the Polka Dot plants? I have a Star Pine tree and it is turning yellow inside the needles. I can't find the reason in any of the garden books I have seen. Please let me know how to care for this tree. Mrs. H. K.

A. Write Burpee Seed Company, Riverside, California about the seeds inquiry. Such a tree, growing in a clay (heavy) soil whether in the lawn or open ground needs deep soaking when watered. It should not be lightly and superficially watered. Cut a branch or two, take it to your local nursery to check it for possible pests such as mites, or scale.

Q. I have a Valencia orange tree in my yard which blooms profusely. However, the oranges are very sour. I would like to know how to correct this. It is next to a mock orange tree. Your help would be appreciated. Mrs. L.

A. Your citrus tree may be budded to a sour root stock, hence bitter fruit. You might experiment. Try a fertilizer that contains only phosphoric acid and potash, apply it three times. Follow instructions on the package label. Do it now then two more times at two-and-one-half to three-month intervals.

Q. We have 12-foot high oleander bushes lining the back of our yard which gives us great privacy. They must be taken out. What can we plant in front of the fence that will grow high fast? Mrs. L.

A. My first choice would be Pittosporum undulatum; second, Viburnum suspensum; third Myoporum; fourth Bottle Brush, this type of plant should be set out about three feet apart. Visit your local nursery, check on all four kinds of plants to see which type of foliage you prefer.

Q. Would appreciate information on how to stop the growth of fan palms. Also have 4 pyracantha bushes against a cinder block wall. They all died after 4 years. Mrs. F. H.

A. There is a new chemical that retards growth of or five plants reach award classification in judging for substance, color, form and breeding. An amateur orchid grower since 1963 and a member of the Long Beach Orchid Society, Campuzano's big problem was in "dampening off" of root structures.

Use of the new Sparkletts water has saved 95 per cent of young seedlings, he reports, and has "almost doubled" the growth of the plants.

plants. Check with your local nurseryman, ask his opinion before you purchase it. Without details as to soil and culture care of the pyracanthas, I'd guess the problem to be fire-blight. If the plants' berries didn't reach full color, growing to only about half the normal size, with thin clusters instead of normal berry clusters and if the branches gradually died back from the top, fire-blight was the culprit.

Q. We have two flax plants. The leaves turn brown on the ends. What do you think causes this trouble? What would cause hibiscus flowers to fall off soon after they open? The freeze in December 1968 did hurt the bushes. Would this have any effect on the flowers? Mrs. B. A. D.

A. Though flax plants are quite rugged and hardy they don't thrive on frequent, shallow, surface sprinklings. The most likely result of such waterings is alkali problem. Similar nonrecommended light sprinklings of camellias eventually causes brown color spots in the leaves near leaf edges, reminding one of measles or scale insects.

If the hibiscus blossoms before the 1968 freeze didn't drop off as fast as they do now, the erratic weather we've had this winter can be blamed. Hibiscus, like gardenia, is a tropical plant. During the winter and accompanying

JOBS TO DO NOW

Dichondra lawn needs feeding early in the year to give it an added boost into growth. The herbicide in strictly a dichondra turf fertilizer contains the herbicide that inhibits-sterilizes grass weed seeds, the small broad leaf type weed seeds as well as the insecticide for destructive soil pests. Did you ever stop to think that a complete plant turf fertilizer contains nitrogen, phosphoric acid and potash? With trace minerals added it furnishes the complete feeding, not only for grass lawns, but dichondra as well.

Check those dahlia clumps stored in lug boxes, or stiff cardboard boxes. Unwrap the covers. If roots have begun to shrivel, moisten the covering. Cut out any rotting portions, and dust with sulphur. Rewrap and store them.

Calla lily flower sap stains clothing. Keep stem ends away from clothing when handling them for cut flower use.

L.B. Area Club Notes

The Long Beach Amateur Orchid Society will hold its regular meeting Monday in the Wardlow Park Clubhouse, Standbridge Avenue and Wardlow Road at 8 p.m. Hugo Freed will speak.

John van Barneveld of Rose Hills Memorial Park will speak at the Los Altos Garden Club luncheon Wednesday. The meeting will be held at St. John's Community Presbyterian Church, 2345 Ximeno Ave., Long Beach, at 12 noon. For reservations call Mrs. Niebuhr, 597-2967.

Long Beach Garden Club will present a standard flower show on March 14, between 1 and 4 p.m., in rains hibiscus normally drop many leaves. Some stray flowers, though smaller appear here and there on some of the plants.

Question — I want to plant a tree in my front yard that won't grow too big or messy. Would one of the Ficus varieties, similar to those in the downtown area be suitable? Which variety would you advise? I've been told the ones downtown are Ficus nitida. My house faces west and there is not tree in my parking area. E. M. Matheny.

ANSWER — Personally I wouldn't plant Ficus nitida due to the Cuban thrips problem I would plant either the New Zealand Christmas tree (Metrosideros), bottle brush-like blooms in summer; of lavender pink flowering orchid tree (Bauhinia purpurea); or Brazilian Pepper tree.

VETERAN GIVES NIXON SHIP MODEL

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon received leaders of veterans organizations Friday — plus a model of the USS Constitution he said he would put in his private office.

The model was presented by the U.S. veterans administrator, Don Johnson, who escorted the visitors to the White House. The ship model was the work of John Karolkowski, an outpatient of the Veterans Administration hospital in Miami, Fla.

Old Navy hand Nixon wanted to know whether Karolkowski by any chance was a Navy veteran. "No, he was an Army sergeant," Johnson told him.

The White House said Karolkowski had decided to offer the model of the Revolutionary War battleship to the President because Nixon is a Navy man

IT'S MOSTLY MAGIC!

N.Y. Fair Shows Toys in Store for 'Small Fry'

By LOUISE COOK
Associated Press Writer

NEW YORK — This is the dawning of the age of the occult for small fry.

The 850 manufacturers participating in the 67th annual American Toy Fair offered games and other playthings covering every possible aspect of witchcraft, the Zodiac, astrology and the supernatural. The fair officially opens here Sunday, although some manufacturers displayed their wares for newsmen and buyers this week.

There also were indications at the fair of a coming trend in environmental games stressing various kinds of pollution clean-ups. One game, already on the market, encourages youngsters to clean up litter.

Most of the new toys, however, capitalized on the growing interest in astrology and magic.

"Made in Witch City, U.S.A.," reads the package for one game, manufactured in Salem, Mass., site of colonial witchcraft trials.

THE GAME, "Witch Pitch," requires players to toss discs into a revolving cupola on top of a witch's house.

From the same company comes "Prediction Rod," which features a magnetic pointer that helps players tell their own fortunes.

"Test your powers of clairvoyancy, telepathy and precognition," says the package.

Most of these games will retail for about $5.

Randolph P. Barton, executive vice president of Parker Brothers Inc., predicted at a press preview of the toy fair that the 1970s would see a growing number of games about pollution, land conservation and beautification of the cities.

ON THE market this year is "Tricky Trash Truck."

The game is designed for four players, each of whom is assigned a house and yard on the playing board and is given a load of plastic trash, including broken bottles, tin cans, broken toys and bones.

Sun Blobs —Are They Comets?

NEW YORK (AP) — A New York astronomer came back from the 1968 total solar eclipse in Siberia with pictures of nine strange blobs near the sun.

He thinks the objects are comets and on March 7, a string of observation teams will be looking at another total eclipse of the sun to check the theory.

Henry C. Courten, an optical systems engineer at Grumman Aerospace Corp. and an astronomy lecturer at Dowling College on Long Island, is taking 3,000 pounds of equipment into the mountains of Mexico for the experiment.

THE MARCH 7 eclipse shadow will touch down far out in the Pacific, then move across Mexico, eastern edges of the United States, through Nova Scotia and Newfoundland, and leave the earth in the North Atlantic.

At the point of total eclipse, when the moon has blotted out the sun's direct rays completely, it may be possible to photograph comets that are otherwise hidden because of the sun's intense light.

WITH SEVERAL teams of observers stretched out along the path of the moving shadow, it may be possible to detect movement and confirm that there really are comets up there.

Courten said he photographed "nine of whatever they are" during the Siberian eclipse and also recorded objects during an eclipse visible from Brazil in 1966.

One alternate explanation, Courten said, is that the objects are merely concentrations of hot, highly charged gases called plasmas.

Gardena Bank Mail Damaged

Gardena Postmaster James H. Gates says about 300 letters addressed to the Bank of Tokyo in Gardena were damaged during a small fire at the post office over the Washington birthday weekend.

Gates says in many cases it is impossible to tell who sent the letters.

He says anyone who wrote to the bank between Thursday, Feb. 19, and Sunday, Feb. 22, should call bank officials to see if the letters were received. If not the bank will assist the mailer in whatever way it can.

Gates said the fire, of undetermined origin, only damaged letters addressed to the bank.

Major Program of Farming the Sea for Food Proposed

By ROB GEIVET
Staff Writer

A major program of farming the sea should be set up, not only to protect the marine environment, but to bolster food production, the state Navigation and Ocean Development Commission was told Friday in Newport Beach.

Commissioner C. M. Shaar, of Santa Barbara, outlined the proposal for marine agriculture and said the watery acres could "produce enormous quantities," far outstripping the production of land agriculture.

Fisheries as they now exist are expanding so rapidly that they will reach their maximum production within a decade, he said.

"After that, they're in trouble," Shaar declared, explaining that marine agriculture could close the gap.

Sea farming would be a thousand times more productive than land agriculture, Shaar said. To achieve this, however, California must protect its coastal zone from contamination, he warned.

Shaar also predicted that underwater oil drilling will replace offshore island drilling platforms and will extend further to sea. He said they can drill to 25,000 feet even in deep water.

The commission's day-long session at the Newport Beach city hall also considered beach erosion and sand replenishment studies, as well as management of the coastal zone.

Dr. Peter S. Dixon, of University of California at Irvine, said marine reserves can be managed only through recognition of the biological and ecological influences, plus social sciences.

T. R. Gillenwaters, a commission member, called for state management of the coastal zone with federal protection of offshore waters because national control extends further seaward.

BUILDING CHIEF TO BE HONORED

Edward M. O'Connor, city director of building and safety, will be honored tonight by the Institute for Advancement of Engineering for his efforts to eliminate buildings which present potential earthquake hazards.

He will receive the Institute's Engineering Merit Award at a dinner at the Beverly Hilton Hotel. He was nominated by two groups, the American Society of Civil Engineers and the Structural Engineers Association of Southern California.

The award commends O'Connor for his efforts in upgrading the Long Beach building code and eliminating old structures that would be hazardous to the public in the event of an earthquake.

Another Long Beach resident, William R. Gould, a senior vice president of Southern California Edison Co., will receive the Institute's George Washington Award. Gould recently was named "engineer of the year" by the institute.

Sheriff Blasted on Patrol Costs

By CHARLES SUTTON
Staff Writer

A spokesman for the county's "independent" cities, those that pay, among other things, for their own police protection, criticized Sheriff Peter Pitchess Friday for apparently ignoring the interest of county taxpayers generally in a controversy over the cost of police protection to contract cities.

The criticism was leveled by Mrs. Adelina Gregory, a Baldwin Park councilwoman and president of the Independent Cities of Los Angeles County, which represents 42 of the county's so-called independent cities. The remaining 33 cities contract for various county services.

PITCHESS HAS sided with the contract communities in an incipient dispute with the County Grand Jury over the extent to which contract city police charges should be raised.

Contract cities now pay the county $139,000 a year per patrol car, but the Grand Jury said a more realistic figure would be $303,000.

The sheriff, challenging the Grand Jury recommendation, had said the present charge should be raised only enough to cover increases in deputies' salaries.

Mrs. Gregory took exception to Pitchess' remarks at a meeting Wednesday night of the executive committee of the independent cities organization.

From published reports, she said Friday, it's apparent the sheriff is ignoring his responsibility to "all" the citizens in suggesting that contract police charges be held close to their present levels.

She said the Grand Jury report, backed by an independent audit, showed the cities paying only patrol car cost while "receiving the complete services of the sheriff's department."

"It is interesting to note," she said, "that while it costs the sheriff $21.27 per capita to police the contract cities and unincorporated area, he charges the contract cities an average of only $3.72 per capita."

"Citizens of independent cities pay most of the differential plus the cost of their own independent police forces. This is not fair, and it is difficult to understand why the sheriff is defending the present inequity."

DISCLOSURE LAW

Officials Told File Assets,

By DON BRACKENBURY
Staff Writer

City officials, at least down through the department-head level, and citizens serving on various boards and commissions were warned Friday of the approaching deadline for filing statements of assets.

Although there has been talk in Sacramento of postponing the effective date of the new legislation, no such action has yet been taken, the city attorney's office said.

"Unless urgency legislation is adopted soon, the statement of assets must be filed in time to meet the April 15 deadline," said City Attorney Leonard Putnam.

THE LEGISLATION REQUIRES public officers and administrative heads to file statements of any assets in excess of $10,000 in any one business entity.

"The law is not confined to the elected or appointed officers of the city," Putnam emphasized. "It affects members of all city commissions and committees which are other than purely advisory in nature."

Groups whose members must file statements of assets include the Library Book Committee, the Valparaiso and Yokkaichi Sister City committees, the Harbor, Planning, Recreation and Water commissions, and various technical boards, such as the Board of Examiners, Appeals and Condemnation.

As for city employees, Putnam said, the new law applies to the appointive or civil service employee of the highest class or grade in each department, bureau, division or other administrative subdivision.

"It most certainly applies to all assistant department heads," he said.

Putnam warned that there are "severe criminal penalties" for failure to file statements, and pointed out that it is the individual's responsibility to file properly and on time.

Putnam said three classes of financial interests must be reported:

—Real property held for income or gain, except a home or property used primarily for personal or recreational purposes.

—Ownership of shares in any corporation except charitable organizations which qualify for exemption from the corporation tax.

—Financial interest in any partnership, joint venture, sole proprietorship, or any other corporate or non-corporate enterprise, except charitable groups, which is subject to regulation by state or local agency.

"Incidentally, almost all enterprises are required to secure local business licenses, or at least file tax statements to the state or federal government," Putnam said. "It would be the rare case that is not subject to regulation in some degree."

The city attorney said the $10,000 minimum applies to any one holding. A person could hold financial or real property interests in a variety of entities, none of which totaled $10,000, and would not have to file, even if their combined worth exceeded $10,000.

Recreation Unit to Meet at Anaheim

Population explosion authority Dr. Paul R. Ehrlich and Floyd H. Hyde, of the U.S. Dept. of Housing and Urban Development, will address the 22nd annual California and Pacific Southwest Recreation and Park Conference, meeting today through Wednesday at the Anaheim Convention Center.

Ehrlich will address a general session of the delegates from California, Arizona, Hawaii, Nevada and Utah at 4 p.m., Sunday. Hyde, the federal department's assistant secretary for model city and government relations, will speak at a similar session at 4 p.m., Tuesday.

Theme of the conference is the "Influence of Leisure of the American Dream."

Commercial exhibits will include products related to park maintenance, play equipment, program materials, games, athletics, films, awards and craft supplies.

Student delegates will participate in a variety of programs including a workshop today, entitled "Project Transition — Breaking the Employment Barrier."

Sponsors are the California Park and Recreation Society and the National Recreation and Park Association.

Arab Rips U.S. Israel Aid

By WALT MURRAY
Staff Writer

American foreign policy is directed against "the whole Arab world" and has become identical with Israeli policy, the Syrian ambassador to the United Nations charged at California State College at Long Beach Friday.

George Tomeh, brought to campus by Political Open Forums and the Organization of Arab Students, noted that many young people in the American new left and third world movements back Arab policy, however.

That, he hopes, will eventually bring a change in U.S. policy.

Tomeh repeated his government's position that the Arab states were not responsible for recent sabotage of Israeli airliners.

"The incidents were unfortunate and condemnable," he said.

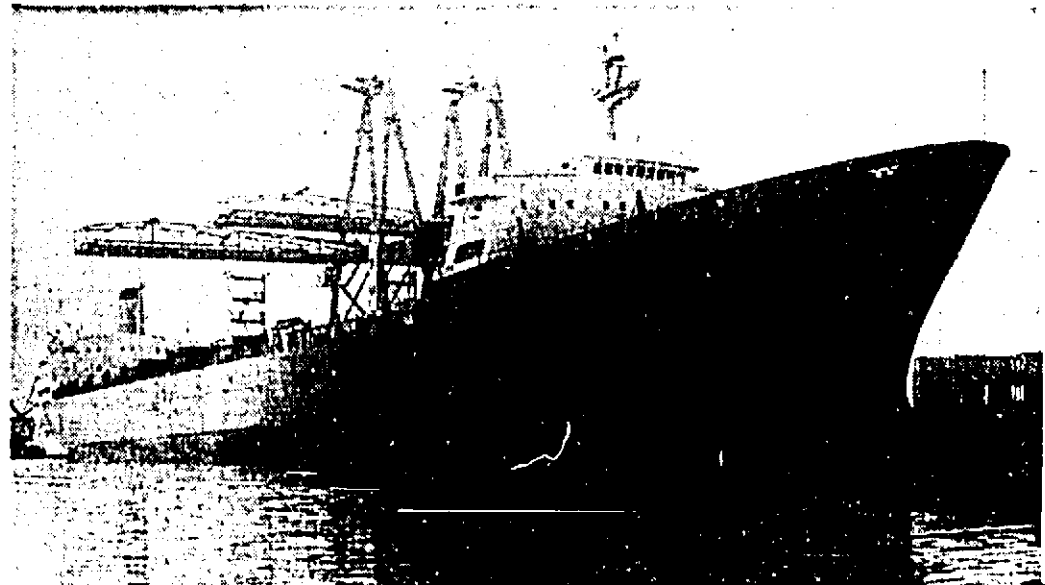

Although Palestine's Popular Front — a militant Arab organization — took credit for the plane bombings, that doesn't mean they did it, he said.

HE CHARGED that planes supplied Israel by the U.S. government are being used to bomb Syrian targets.

"It's no secret that Arab states are getting arms from the Soviet Union," he said. "But Egypt asked the U.S. for arms in 1955 — for self defense — and the U.S. refused. The Arab states have to defend themselves, and the Soviet Union offered to help."

YOUR HOROSCOPE

by JEANE DIXON

Forecast for Sunday

Your birthday today! Everything depends now on your will to change and grow. Even rather routine decisions turn out to have more effect than expected. It is a year of action within a relatively narrow range of choice, not so much a matter of what you do but more of how you do it and for what reasons.

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Your tolerance of others is tested this Sunday. When you remain serene and reach out to cheer your loved ones, you build a better life for all.

Taurus (April 20-May 20): Plans for the day are upset as older people change their minds and younger ones work on your sympathies. Just keep yourself comfortable. Let matters transpire themselves out rather than forcing issues.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Somebody's mood spoils the fun today. Your efforts to brighten things up and help plans impact may tip the balance. Make an early evening of it.

CANCER (June 21-July 21): You must pursue arrangements yourself if you really want anything done today. Others tend to leave out essential details, or forget their appointments. The simple course of action is the best.

LEO (July 22-Aug. 21): The formation this Sunday is to take on more than your share of the leadership — this means everything that depends later on your faith.

VIRGO (Aug. 22-Sept. 22): It is better to discuss issues in detail with one or two, socially, than to say half a dozen words to a hundred.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Your patience with family and associates is greatly appreciated. A slight home Sunday is most likely to work out, but even that may be hindered by neighbors' doings.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Children and education come to your attention. You may find later that any promises you make this afternoon and evening cannot be kept.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): You can make yourself look broader today with almost no effort. There's likewise no point in argument with old or new friends. Stick to the issues rather than personalities.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Your calm refusal to respond to bickering keeps things from getting out of hand. But, imprudent arrangements turn out well.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Make your full share of the community expression of faith, then work out the fine points of your connections with groups, organizations. Stick to the issues rather than personalities.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): Keep your plans quiet. Some brooding may have been answered and finished long ago.

Los Alamitos Police Facility Plan Expanded

Expansion of a proposed police and public works facility have been discussed by the Los Alamitos city council — but no official action was taken.

The council heard architect Lee Wilcox describe plans to expand the police facility from 5,200 square feet to 6,340 to allow for an additional office to be used by the Los Alamitos County Water District or the Chamber of Commerce.

Wilcox said the cost of the facility would also expand from the original estimate of $200,000 to a total of $252,534.

A BREAKDOWN on the costs, according to Wilcox, includes $174,597 for the police facility; $62,339 for the public works building and garage; and $10,628 for beautification of the courtyard enclosed by the civic center.

The only objection to the plan came from Councilman Eme R. Otte, who complained about the cost of the decorative fountain to be included in the courtyard.

In other action the city approved a resolution, originated by the city of Stanton, requesting the state to pass legislation regulating mobile home parks.

The resolution asked for specific controls on park owners to prevent —Owners from requiring tenants to purchase homes from a particular company.

—Charging exorbitant fees for the privilege of selling homes that remain on the same location.

—Charging more for electrical services than the owner pays for them.

Pool Snack Bar Lease Bidding Set

Solicitation of bids for leasing the snack bar facilities in Belmont Plaza Pool building was authorized Thursday by the Recreation Commission.

In another action involving the pool, the commission denied the request of John Masterson of Bel Air to use the facility to film a pilot film for television without paying the $306 fee.

Commissioners approved a change in date, from Oct. 11 to Sept. 24, for a power boat race in Marine Stadium, sponsored by the Sponsors Club of Long Beach for the City of Hope.

Wilson High School was granted permission to use Blair Field for its annual commencement exercises on Wednesday, June 17.

CAT SHOW STARTS IN L.B. TODAY

Cal Coast Cat Club's 10th annual Royal Merit Cat Show opens today for a two-day run at the Long Beach Municipal Auditorium with more than 400 entries scheduled to compete for top honors.

A highlight will be the appearance Sunday of columnist May Mann's famous cat, Princess, a rare Pink Point Siamese which has appeared in the movies and who was recently visited by the Prince of the Royal House of Siam on his trip to this country.

The show is open to the public from noon to 8 p.m. both days.

Orange Co. Contracts Underbid

Three of four contracts signed this week by the Orange County Board of Supervisors were for amounts below engineering estimates for the jobs.

It marked the first time in months that a trend toward "underbidding" has apparently set in; usually, the county finds that bids are higher than the budgeted amounts.

A CONTRACT to expand the electrical system at the Orange County Medical Center was let to Shurr and Finlay, Inc., of Yorba Linda, for $71,847. It was lowest of 11 bids, the highest being for $114,428. Engineers had estimated that the work would cost $135,700.

M. L. Garten of Anaheim won contract for work on the Ranchwood storm drain on bid of $18,416. He was lowest of 15 bidders, and slightly under engineering estimates of $19,480.

The R. J. Noble contracting firm at Orange won the bid for paving four lanes of Batavia Street from Cully Drive to Lincoln Avenue, north Orange, on bid of $36,320. The estimate was that the job would cost $44,726. Noble's bid was lowest of five submitted to the board.

The only bid higher than estimate was for work on Garden Grove storm drain. J. S. Pehar of La Canada bid $295,508, and won the work award, although his bid was $45,000 higher than flood control engineers had figured the cost would be.

CANDIDATE

Joe R. Greene, 48, is seeking election as Orange County Tax Collector, in which office he has been a deputy for six years. The veteran Don S. Mozley is retiring, leaving field wide open, and Greene was first to file. He was combat pilot in Marine Corps in World War II and Korea War. He has lived in Tustin for 10 years.

MORMON LEADER

Myrthus W. Evans of Riverside has been named the new president of the Mormon Temple in Los Angeles. Evans has been for the past 22 years superintendent of the Sherman Institute, Riverside, and prior to that he was superintendent of the Chemawa Indian School at Salem, Ore. In 1954 he won the Department of Interior's Distinguished Service award.

Jack Osterman at 1st Baptist

First Baptist Church, 1000 Pine Ave., will hear Rev. Jack Ostermann at both Sunday morning services, 8:30 and 11 a.m.

Dr. Ostermann, with Dr. Jack McArthur, founded the large Calvary Bible Church, Burbank, and instigated a popular television show on Sunday afternoons entitled "The Voice of Calvary."

Prior to this, he served with First Baptist Church of Downey and Fountain Avenue Baptist Church, Hollywood. It was during this time that Roy and Dale Rogers accepted Christ with Dr. McArthur and Dr. Ostermann preaching.

BRIEFLY... Convergence of Rites, Customs Seen Growing

By MARK CLUTTER

Years ago a "high-church" Episcopal priest said: "All we have to do is sit tight and they will join us." His prophecy seems to be coming true.

The Northwest Baptist Church in Oklahoma City now has the custom of communicants kneeling at the altar rail to receive the bread and wine. The usual Baptist practice is to serve Communion to the congregation in the pews.

Many Roman Catholic priests now greet the departing parishioners at the door in the Protestant manner. And many conduct confession face to face instead of in the confessional.

In a number of dioceses laymen assist the priest in serving Holy Communion. There are two American women authorized to assist.

The ancient "kiss of peace" — now usually a handshake — is becoming a common part of Communion in many Catholic and Protestant churches.

Catholic rites for infant baptism have been revised, encouraging dipping the child into water instead of merely touching its forehead with water.

And, if anyone now has any doubt about the church revolution, the bishop in the Dallas-Fort Worth area has banned bingo as a fund-raising device.

CHURCH membership in the United States reached a total of 128,469,636 in 1963, the Yearbook of American Churches reports. But church attendance continued to decline from the high of 49 per cent in 1948 to 43 per cent in 1963.

The Roman Catholic Church is the largest with almost 43 million members. The "Protestants," including some not officially Protestant, such as Mormons and Unitarians, number more than 70 million. There are nearly 53 million Jews. The Buddhists are the smallest with 100,000 members. The figures are not precise because various denomina-

3 Church Mags Scan Family Life

A thorough look at the problems and possibilities of family life in America is being published simultaneously by three Protestant magazines.

Titled "The American Family — Surviving Through Change," the 16-page feature appears this month in Presbyterian Life, United Church Herald, and The Episcopalian. Author of the article is Professor J. C. Wynn, director of studies at Colgate "Rochester Divinity School and a specialist in family education.

A number of factors influencing the family's chances for survival are dealt with, including: Changes in the functions of the family, marriage and divorce, anger, boredom, the role of religion, the loss of intimacy, failures in sexual relations, and the crossfire of changing standards.

tions keep their records differently.

The largest Protestant group is the Southern Baptists with 11.3 members. Next is the United Methodist Church with 10.9 million. The National Baptist Convention, USA, is third with 5.5 million. The various kinds of Baptists bring their total up to 21 million.

"WHAT one sees on television is imprinted in the mind, and if it is watched obsessively, television replaces questioning and fills the mind with empty fantasies," says Pope Paul VI in the March Ladies' Home Journal. "Where is there any room for spiritual life, prayer, dependence on God, when the consciousness is habitually crowded with these intruding, often futile and harmful images? When this happens it is necessary to stop, to reflect, to apply critical thought in order to regain freedom from the power of these visual images."

Religion editor Les Rodney, who has been on a mass media communications tour of Israel, will be back on the religion pages next Saturday.

CONSERVATIVE BAPTISTS TO MEET IN L.B. CHURCH

"Facing the Fact of a Space Age" will be the theme of the 15th annual meeting of the Conservative Baptists of Southern California Monday and Tuesday at Bethany Baptist Church, 2250 Clark Ave.

Among the speakers will be Roger Arnebergh, city attorney of Los Angeles, and Dr. Harold Fickett, pastor of the 2,000-member First Baptist Church of Van Nuys.

The Conservative Baptists have 600 missionaries in 18 foreign countries and the United States. The Association is Biblically fundamental in doctrine and aggressive in evangelistic emphasis. Some 600 to 1,000 are expected at the sessions.

Dr. William J. McIlhenny is the pastor of the host church.

GOSPEL SPECTACULAR

The Singing Rambos are among those who will appear in the Gospel Spectacular, a concert presented by Calvary Records, in the Long Beach Auditorium tonight at 7:30 p.m. The Rambos, from Nashville, Tenn., are Ken Stevens (left), Reba, Buck and Dottie Rambo.

Mixed Report by So. Baptists

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Membership in Southern Baptist Convention churches rose to a record 11.4 million during 1969, the executive committee of the nation's largest Protestant denomination was told here this week.

Martin Bradley, secretary of the department, told the 58-member committee meeting here that although total church membership increased, enrollments in the denomination's Sunday School, Training Union, Brotherhood, and Women's Missionary Union organizations decreased.

The number of conversions baptisms also decreased during 1969. Last year, Southern Baptists baptized 363,225 converts, down 4,800 from the 1968 number.

AT UPTOWN CHURCH OF CHRIST

Leading Educator New L.B. Minister

Hugh M. Tiner, longtime Los Angeles County educator-preacher, will become minister of Long Beach's Uptown Church of Christ, 3707 Atlantic Ave., on Sunday.

Dr. Tiner, former president of Pepperdine College, is presently minister of the La Mesa Church of Christ. The Long Beach church has been without a regular preacher since the death of Richard N. Lane three months ago.

Dr. Tiner, who will be 62 in April, was supervisor of Los Angeles County schools in 1933-37—after four years with the Lynwood schools as teacher and administrator—and helped George Pepperdine organize Pepperdine College in 1937.

The evangelist, who has preached for several churches of Christ in the area, served as dean at Pepperdine during the college's first two years, then was president for 18 years, 1939-57. He was the youngest college president in America.

Dr. Tiner, who received his Ph.D. from the University of Southern California in 1945, was selected "Young Man of the Year" by the U.S. Junior Chamber of Commerce in 1940.

A native of San Antonio, Tex., he has had a keen interest in Christian education most of his life. Recently he has served on development and fund-raising committees of Abilene Christian, Columbia Christian and Pepperdine colleges.

Dr. Tiner has been district governor of Rotary, a member of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce board and a spokesman for independent colleges. He is presently director of Campus Advance at San Diego state College.

PRIESTS QUIT OVER CELIBACY

NEW YORK (AP) — In the month since Pope Paul VI rejected changes in the celibacy requirement the number of men leaving the Roman Catholic priesthood has doubled, a Church scholar says.

Rev. Dr. Leo Altling von Gousau, a Dutch priest and secretary-general of an international church documentation center in Rome, said Tuesday that large numbers of the departing priests are "seminary and university professors . . . scientists, anthropologists, leaders and writers."

He said that in 1969 an estimated 3,000 men left the priesthood in the United States, 400 in Holland and 15,000 in Italy. He told a news conference that the ability of intellectual priests to find secular work is one reason they are leaving in such large numbers.

World Prayer Day Friday to Be Observed

"Take Courage" will be the theme of the World Day of Prayer Friday. There will be services in a number of churches in the Long Beach area.

The World Day of Prayer is sponsored in the United States by Church Women United and will be celebrated in 25,000 American communities.

The event starts at dawn in the Tonga Islands, just west of the International Date Line and passes throughout the day over continents and oceans with the last prayers said at sunset in Hawaii and the Alaskan Islands.

In Long Beach Mayor Edwin Wade has proclaimed the day.

This year the Jewish Synagogues will take part by incorporating a special service in their religious rites.

Places for services, time and speakers in Long Beach follow:

First United Methodist, 10 a.m., Miss Elsie Farris, speaker.

'SERVICE FAIR' FOR COMMUNITY SET AT CHURCH

A "Community Service Fair" with display booths by 20 Long Beach area organizations will be held Sunday, 7 p.m. at Lakewood First Presbyterian Church, 3935 Studebaker Road, Long Beach.

Drug prevention, fair housing, literacy, Head Start, the free clinic, Improvement League, social service volunteers, family planning, are among the groups and topics.

There will be a short film on the CATHY program followed by refreshments.

FROM THE PULPIT
The distraught mother anxiously asked her pastor this question: "Where was God when my son died in Viet Nam?" The wise pastor answered, "God was in exactly the same place when your son died that He was when his son died."

God may sometimes appear to be afar off. Even Christ experienced this loneliness when he exclaimed, "My God, my God, hast thou forsaken Me?" God was on the throne, ruling over the powers of darkness then, and He is on the throne today, casting away the unbelieving world to praise Him.

He is near to all that call upon Him and who believe on the Name of His Son. The very character of God will not permit sin to go unpunished, nor His wayward children to roam the deserts of the world unchecked. We would point you to the "Lamb of God that takes away the sin of the world."

Your 'Happiness Boomerang Guide'

By NORMAN VINCENT
PEALE

Not too long ago, on a bitter-cold winter night, I arrived at the airport, finally got a taxi and headed for home. I have to admit that the weather and the consequent inconveniences of travel were beginning to put me in a less than ecstatic mood.

The taxi driver turned on the meter and we were on our way. I looked at the meter and just above it was a slogan button which read, "When you're happy, I'm happy." A few inches to the right of that button was another identical button. I guess the purpose was to make sure the message would really sink in. And sink it did, because even though I was tired and a bit miserable, I began feeling better.

"WHEN YOU'RE happy, I'm happy." That little slogan is basic and so true. When you think of your loved ones, your family and your friends, you realize how true it is. When you receive a sincere smile, you're inclined automatically to smile. By the same token, when you encounter unhappiness, it's just as catching. You begin to feel low yourself.

So the key to that slogan, "When you're happy, I'm happy," is to make sure you are doing everything possible to see to it that the people around you are joyful.

I'd like to ask you to try an experiment. Write down the names of the most important people in your life, important on a personal level, a social level, or a business level. Then take each individual name and make a list of ways you might contribute toward that person's happiness in life.

I'm sure the first name would be that of your husband or your wife, or if you're not married, your closest relative or friend. If you have trouble starting a list of ways to increase that person's happiness, begin with a sincere warm greeting the next time you see them. After that beginning, ideas for promoting happiness will come to mind faster than you can write them down. You'll be amazed at how quickly that list will grow.

Now take each idea and think how that idea can boomerang from another person's happiness and make you happy also. By so doing, you will have your own happiness by making other people happy. You might even say it's an unselfish way of being selfish.

By the time you've finished with your entire list of people that are important in your life, you'll have your own invaluable formula for real happiness.

NOW, AND here is the real deciding factor of the success of your "happiness boomerang guide," whenever you are unhappy or have a feeling of unhappiness creeping up on you, consult your list. I think you'll find in each case that there is someone on that list who needs you to make them really enjoy living. If not, then think further. Maybe there is someone who should be added to your list. The more you use this system the longer the list of people important to you will become. Perhaps the happiest person in the world is the person whose list embraces all mankind.

Study Tells Why Pastors Resign

NEW YORK — "My first inclination is to say, 'Go to hell,'" remarked one ex-minister, explaining his attitude toward his former parishioners. "But more reflection dictates that would be neither theologically sound nor practical."

In his case, he says, he still believes there is "a small concerned group left in the congregation — numbering perhaps three."

"And," he says, "if I had any counsel for them it would be to get out—resign and become active in the Democratic Party, the League of Women Voters or the poverty program."

His reactions are found in a two-year study into the lives of 370 ordained clergymen of the United Church of Christ who have dropped out of the ministry. The findings are summarized in a new book, Ex-Pastors: Why Men Leave the Parish Ministry, published by United Church Press.

Explaining the reasoning behind the study, the Rev. Dr. Howard E. Spragg, New York, executive vice president of the United Church Board for Homeland Ministries, said the church has a "pastoral responsibility" for men and women who leave the parish ministry and an obligation to discover what prompts them to do so.

"Within this group we have found people of great talent and insight who were still anxious to be a part of the life of the church. We found that they were being ignored or passed by on the assumption that they had rejected the church in its entirety by leaving the parish ministry," Dr. Spragg said.

While some men are filled with either anger or pain, the study shows, most claim that they still love the church and have a vision of a greater ministry in secular life.

These former ministers have rebelled against "Twelfth Century theology," against having to be "religious" for members of their congregations, against working on "a full-time basis for the part-time salary of one unskilled, untrained and uneducated individual."

They agree that a minister should be paid a decent salary, that he be allowed to have a private life of his own, and that he be treated as a professional who has the same rights as anyone else "to be loved, to be angry, to be hurt and full of pain and afraid."

The ex-pastors and active ministers agreed almost unanimously that their seminaries did not train them in the practical skills necessary for being a leader in today's church.

While the ex-pastors feel the "the system" has failed them, the active ministers are not without their gripes regarding the church bureaucracy. One recurring theme was that administrators generally side with a local congregation against the minister when vital issues are at stake.

The suggestion was made that administrators should take sabbatical leaves at regular intervals, during which time they would serve local parishes.

The investigators found some illuminating differences between the two groups. For example, the marital status of ex-min-

'Back to the Bible'

On March 5th the Back to the Bible Broadcast celebrates a milestone in their 31 year history by releasing their 10,000th consecutive program. Locally, the program is heard on KGER at 6 p.m. Monday-Saturday.

Back to the Bible began as a local 15 minute radio program in 1939 in Lincoln, Nebraska. Today it is aired on 560 radio stations world-wide, covering over 90 per cent of the world's population.

EVANGELIST-MUSICIAN

Bob Watters, recently returned from a successful preaching mission to seven European countries, is conducting an evangelistic crusade at First Assembly of God, 10th Street and Linden Avenues, through Mar. 8, Sundays at 11 a.m. and 6 p.m. and Monday through Thursday at 7:30 p.m. A descendant of pioneer Methodist circuit riders, whose great grandfather established the first Methodist church in Texas, Watters is a versatile musician and composer. He was the only one besides Billy Graham to pack West Berlin's Congress Hall for an evangelistic meeting.

ABC Drops Nine Primetime Shows

By GEORGE ERES
TV-Radio Editor

Nine primetime shows reportedly have been dropped from the ABC-TV (Ch. 7) schedule for next season.

They are: "Paris 7000," Englebert Humperdinck and Pat Paulsen Shows, "Land of the Giants," "It Takes a Thief," "The Flying Nun," "The Ghost and Mrs. Muir," "The Lennon Sisters and Jimmy Durante," and "Here Come the Brides."

ABC network spokesmen in Hollywood say the new schedule has not been released, but apparently the Hollywood office is the last to know. Trade papers and wire services must have a spy somewhere in the east and announce the schedule as follows:

SUNDAY — "Land of the Giants" is replaced by "The Young Rebels," American Revolutionary war drama, which one critic referred to as a 1978 "Mod Squad." Remainder of the night's schedule is the same.

MONDAY — "The Young Lawyers," drama about young attorneys who represent persons without funds, replaces "It Takes a Thief," at 7:30 p.m. At 8:30 p.m., "Silent Force," undercover agents against the underworld, airs. NFL professional football will begin at 9 p.m. and continue through Dec. 14 when movies will take over.

TUESDAY — No changes.

WEDNESDAY — "Courtship of Eddie's Father" moves to 7:30 p.m. from its current 8 p.m. starting time which goes to Danny Thomas' new show, "Make Room for Granddaddy." "Room 222" and "Johnny Cash" remain. A detective show, "Dan August," replaces Humperdinck at 10:30 p.m.

THURSDAY — Paulsen's 7:30 p.m. time goes to "Dial Hotline," about a psychological unit in a hospital which answers calls from people in trouble, starring Vince Edwards. At 8:30 p.m., "Be-witched" stays; 9 p.m. "Barefoot in the Park," based on the Broadway show, but featuring a black couple, replaces Tom Jones who shifts to 10 p.m., Fridays. "The Odd Couple," with Tony Randall and Jack Klugman, do a TV version of the Broadway show and "The Immortal," something about a man with a type of blood that gives him eternal life, fill out the remainder of the night.

FRIDAY — "The Brady Bunch," takes over the dropped "Flying Nin" spot at 7:30 p.m. and "Nanny and the Professor" moves into an 8 p.m. starting time. "The Partridge Family," with Shirley Jones as a widow who joins her children's rock band, replaces "The Ghost and Mrs. Muir" at 8:30 p.m. "That Girl" takes the 9 p.m. period vacated by "Here Come the Brides" and "Love, American Style" continues in a half-hour, instead of its current hour version.

SATURDAY — "Let's Make a Deal," "Newlywed Game" and Lawrence Welk remain in the period from 7:30 to 10 p.m. when "Zig Zag," with Ralph Bellamy, Inger Stevens and George Maharis, story about a criminologist and his assistants, takes over from Durante and the Lennons.

UCLA Smashes Stanford

HE'S NO FRIEND, CONTENTS FRENNE Nixon on Wrong Track?

NEW YORK (UPI) — George Frenne, a standout weightman on the amateur track scene, claimed Friday there's a football monopoly in the White House. He contends that President Richard Nixon is snubbing track and field athletes.

Frenne, who represents the Pacific Coast Club of Long Beach, said he sent several notes and wires to the White House trying to get the President to help publicize the National AAU track and field meet.

"There's a tremendous football monopoly in the White House," Frenne said. "Why else would President Nixon surround himself with football men, attend the National Football Foundation Dinner and send messages to the University of Texas and the Kansas City Chiefs for winning championships?" he asked.

Frenne, noting that he received no response from the White House, made his remarks after winning the National AAU 35-pound weight championship.

Bruins Scout 49ers in Provo

UCLA still is two games away from clinching its fourth consecutive Pacific-8 Conference championship and a berth in the NCAA Western Regional tournament at Seattle.

But Bruin coach John Wooden sounded supremely confident Friday night after his team whacked Stanford, 120-90, before 12,114 fans at Pauley Pavilion.

Responding to a question about scouting of possible future opponents, Wooden said: "We'll scout Cal State Long Beach in the tournament at Provo."

Wooden may be conceding Cal State Long Beach a victory over Weber State late before reserves again took over.

The 120 points scored by UCLA were the most ever made against Stanford by the Bruins in 146 meetings.

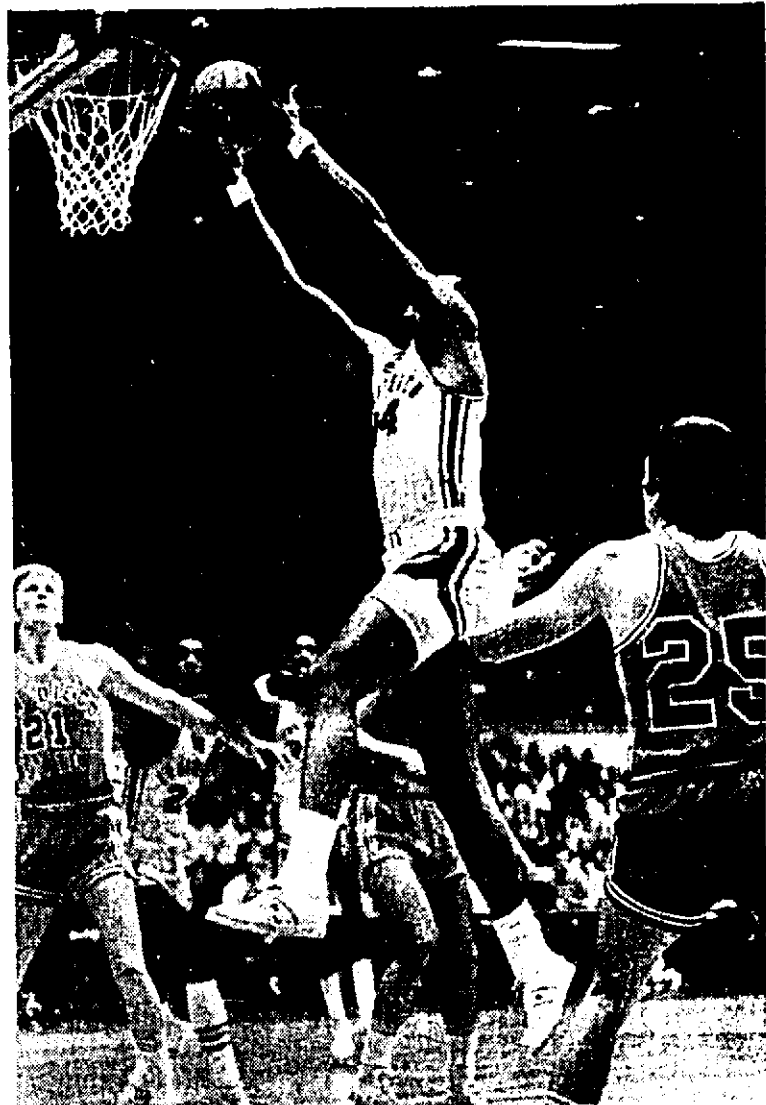

UCLA's front line of Rowe, Sidney Wicks and Steve Patterson overpowered the Indians, Rowe getting a career high of 30 points, Wicks 23 and Patterson 22. John Vallely, who had been having shooting problems, made 22 and Henry Bibby had 14.

The Bruin starters made 45 of 65 shots for a 69 per cent average. UCLA had a 53-40 rebounding margin.

Referring to UCLA's front-line margin of 73 to 6 in scoring, Stanford coach Howie Dallmar said: "The Bruins' front line is greatly superior to the over-all front lines of past UCLA teams. But you can't make a comparison between this team and the Lew Alcindor clubs. There's just no valid way of doing it."

Wooden admitted he would be watching television this afternoon when second-place Oregon plays

Nine Masterful Golfers Tee Off Today at Skylinks

Champions from nine Long Beach and area clubs open play today in the 72-hole Long Beach Masters Golf Championship, and for the first time in four years there is no clear-cut favorite.

Skylinks will host the first round, followed by Recreation Park Sunday, Virginia Country Club next Saturday and the Naval Base course on March 8. All rounds begin at 10 a.m.

Bill Workman of Skylinks, Mike Fedderly of Lakewood and Larry Brown of Meadowlark are rated slight favorites over Jerry Cassaday (Virginia), Ray Brett (El Dorado), Jack Augsberger (Old Ranch), Joe Redfern (Naval Base), Willard Bryan (Rec. Park) and Ed Donahue (Los Alamitos).

Workman and Fedderly will play in the last threesome at 10:12 with Redfern, Augsberger, Brown and Brett tee off first at 10 a.m.

The last three champions, Del Walker, John Richardson and Dick Mortensen, have won by no fewer than eight strokes. All shot par golf, or a few strokes over.

The 15th Masters is sponsored by the Long Beach Golf Assn. and this newspaper.

at Provo, but he's also preparing for an earlier engagement with USC.

The Bruins didn't use their full-court press against Stanford and, without specifying the Trojans, Wooden explained his tactics.

"We used a half-court pressure defense," said the UCLA coach. "That will be our main defense from now on. Oh, we'll use the full-court press against certain teams, but the half-court pressure will be the one we'll concentrate on."

Wooden's smile was hint enough that he expected USC to employ a ball-control style against the Bruins, and half-court pressure would be used to try to break up this pattern.

Before the Bruins concern themselves with USC and Cal State Long Beach, they must engage California tonight at Pauley. The Bruins beat the Bears by 15 at Berkeley but Cal coach Jim Padgett apparently wasn't impressed.

"UCLA doesn't have the championship sewed up," said Padgett before traveling south for weekend games with USC and the Bruins.

Stanford posed little problem for UCLA.

The Bruins, coming back after their first defeat in 25 games, were cheered lustily as they broke away to a 7-2 lead in the first two minutes, then built the margin to 38-16 midway in the first half.

Wooden sent a batch of reserves into the contest and the Indians whittled UCLA's lead to 56-39 by halftime.

The Indians were quickly shot down when UCLA's regulars returned to action at the start of the second half. With Curtis Rowe leading the way, UCLA built up a 36-point advan-

Rout San Diego, End Perfect PCAA Season

By JIM MCCORMACK

Cal State Long Beach concluded its Pacific Coast Athletic Assn. season Friday night with a 74-55 triumph over San Diego State before 5,690 in the Long Beach Arena.

The triumph was the 23rd in 25 games for the NCAA playoff-bound 49ers, who extended their win streak to 18.

The bright spots for the 49ers were few as they obviously were looking past the Aztecs.

"I thought the kids played pretty well, considering the circumstances," remarked coach Jerry Terkalian.

"It's been a hectic week for us. We've been trying to get information on Weber State, and I think we might have been looking past San Diego a little bit."

"Still, that isn't really an excuse. You can't take anything away from San Diego, they played a good game and shot very well."

San Diego stayed close to the 49ers throughout the contest, working patiently around the perimeter of the 49er zone until Cal State's impatience got the best of it.

Then, with the defenders extended, the Aztecs were able to get good percentage shots.

They parlayed that with accurate outside sniping by former Jordan High and Long Beach City College star Jon Borchert to remain in the contest until the final five minutes.

Borchert's 22-foot jump-

a game-long Cal State lead to six — 54-48.

Then the 49ers went on a 11-5 blitz to open up things, traded buckets with the Aztecs, and then ran off an 8-0 sprint to end the game a winner by 19 points.

The first rush began when George Trapp dropped in two free throws with 4:18 to go. Dave McLucas added a tip-in, Ray Gritton a 21-footer and Trapp a 22-footer and State led 62-48.

Borchert broke the string with a free throw and Van Jacobson hit a long jump shot, but Trapp countered with two free throws.

The best, however, was saved for last. State held a 70-55 lead with six seconds remaining and San Diego working the ball.

Bernard Williams stole the ball and hit a 30-footer at the buzzer. Dwight Taylor was fouled at the same time and made both free throws to give the 49ers four points literally after the game had ended.

Trapp led all scorers with 19 points followed by Borchert with 18.

Of some significance was State's 51-35 domi-

RIOTS FORCE SHIFT OF 2

UCSB GAMES

SANTA BARBARA (UPI) — UC Santa Barbara's two weekend Pacific Coast Athletic Assn. basketball games Friday were shifted from Robertson Gymnasium on the campus to Dos Pueblos High School in nearby Goleta.

The Gauchos were scheduled to host Fresno State Friday night and San Jose State tonight. The sheriff's office requested the move to prevent any possible trouble.

FIELD OF 1,500 IN LONG BEACH RELAYS TODAY

By JOHN DIXON
Staff Writer

Jammed from the javelin to the jumps with tested transfers, Cal State Long Beach takes aim at the major leaguers in the 29th Long Beach Relays today at Veterans Stadium.

UCLA, USC and the one-two ranking clubs in the U.S., Southern California Striders and Pacific Coast Club of Long Beach, are today's targets for coach Jack Rose's saucy 49ers.

The college and club crews may not be in championship form today, but Rose promises that the 49ers will be. The title race is wide open.

Long Beach has concentrated its power in the half-mile and mile relays.

In the 800, the 49ers will run a team of Clarence Palmer (21.5 220), Wayne

Stevenson (22.0), Danny Moore (21.2) and Eugene Jones (21.0). The four-lap foursome will be Palmer (47.8), Jimmy Love (48.9), Stevenson (49.4) and Moore (47.5).

UCLA's power is in the two-mile relay, with Mike Mullins, Bob Langston, Eugene Williams and Paul Williams. Representing Millikan High, Langston was the outstanding athlete on the field last year.

The Bruins, led by Wayne Collett, one of the world's quickest and most versatile runners, also will be difficult to defeat in the sprint medley relay, while no team can match their high jump depth of Steve Lang (6-11), Hal Greenwood (6-10) and Jim Arnold (6-7).

USC's kid team may be fighting stagefright. But youngsters with national title potential include quartermiler Bill Sims (47.1), pole vaulter Steve Smith (16-0), javelin flinger Vince Libbon (239-0), miler Rich Carr (4:03.4), two-miler Fred Ritterson (8:55.2), soph quartermiler Edsel Garrison (45.5) and sprinter Ken Jones (9.5).

Among Pacific Coast Club trophy candidates are John Dobroth, 6-11 high jumper; Gary Ordway, 50-10 shotputter; Frank Covelli, two-time Olympic javelin thrower, and Jerry Bright, 9.4 sprinter.

The Striders figure they have a lock on the 410 relay title — and perhaps meet record, too — with a team of Steve Camlini, Fred Kuller, Dave Selal (from England) and Ron Monsegno (Trinidad).

The major leaguers begin competition at 11:45 a.m. High schools, junior colleges and colleges also will participate in 1,500-athlete, 82-event record romp which extends from 8:30 a.m. until twilight. All Moore League schools and Long Beach City College have entered full squads.

Tickets will be on sale at the gates — $1.50 for adults, 50 cents for children.

PENN REELS OFF NO. 17 Westphal Hits 30 as SC Trims Cal

Combined News Services

Sophomore guard Paul Westphal scored 30 points Friday night to lead Southern California to a 90-82 Pacific-8 basketball victory over California at the L.A. Sports Arena.

The Golden Bears, trailing 48-36 at halftime, pecked away at the USC lead and were within three at 77-74 with five minutes to play before Westphal led a Trojan surp.

Junior guard Mo Layton, coming off the bench with a groin injury, scored 25 points to aid the Southern Cal cause.

California was led by Ansley Truitt with 22. Jackie Ridgle had 18 for the losers.

Seventh-ranked Penn beat Columbia 71-57 to win the Ivy League title and a spot in the NCAA tournament.

Penn's victory was its 24th in 25 games and 17th in a row, one shy of the nation's longest college winning streak.

As the Ivy League champion, Penn automatically earned an NCAA tournament berth and will play Niagara in a preliminary round game March 7 at Princeton, N.J.

Favored 13th-ranked Davidson swept past William & Mary, 78-54, and Richmond upset George Washington, 77-69, with a second-half comeback to advance to the finals of the Southern Conference tournament.

Tonight's winner meets St. Bonaventure in the opening round of NCAA play.

John Tschogl scored 25 points and teammate Doug Rex scored 21 Friday night, leading UC Santa Barbara to a 117-102 Pacific Coast Athletic Assn. basketball victory over Fresno State.

The game was played at Dos Pueblos High School in Goleta because of a 6 p.m. curfew imposed on the UCSB campus as a result of student unrest.

The victory gave the Gauchos a 5-4 PCAA record and a three-way tie for second place. They are 11-14 over-all. Fresno was led by Bob Stephens with 35 points. Stephens was 14 of 26 from the floor.

AMERICAN MOTORS CARS
SOLD WITH 100% GUARANTEE
ALL PARTS --- ALL LABOR

We find it too costly to recondition a rough or abused used car, so we sell these cars at dealer auction to the highest bidder.
All of the cars that have had unusual care and no more than average mileage, we tune-up and adjust to flawless running condition and offer to retail buyers.
All of the cars here listed are 100% guaranteed.

Southern Pacific Forms Subsidiary Land Company

Southern Pacific Company has announced a far-reaching plan to accelerate development of its 3,655,000 acres of land holdings and its mineral rights in an additional 1,331,000 acres.

will make the Southern Pacific Land Company a direct subsidiary of Southern Pacific Company, the parent holding company. Blaggini also announced the election of O. G. Linde, 44, as president of the Land Company. Linde has been manager of in-

real estate for industrial, commercial and related purposes of about $23,700,000. Blaggini said that under the new plan to develop Southern Pacific real estate, the Land Company will have three divisions: Industrial Development, headed by D. T. Daggett; Natural Resources, headed by J. P. van Loben Sels; and Real Estate, headed by V. A. Wolfe.

Acquisition of additional interests in real estate to complement present holdings; Reevaluation of the company's present leasing policies; Development of the company's existing land holdings through its own resources or through outside financing.

will have on the diversification potential of the company, its financial strength, the best interests of its stockholders and its service to the public.

gaged Daniel, Mann, Johnson & Mendenhall, Los Angeles real estate consultants, to make an appraisal of the company's non-railroad land and to submit their recommendations for the best use of the properties. This evaluation is being completed so that we can move promptly and aggressively for the development effort."

Authorities to Address 'Congress'

An international authority on city planning, an industry leader in urban affairs, a prominent environmental scientist and a top official of the California State Colleges will discuss "Challenges of the 70s" at the Long Beach Chamber of Commerce Congress for Community Progress next week.

Congress Chairman Henry H. Clock, a Long Beach attorney, reports confirmation of the four-man panel is the final major step in preparations for the community-wide event that will convene at 8:15 a.m. Thursday in the Long Beach Elks Lodge, 4101 E. Willow St.

"The participation of these outstanding authorities lends regional significance to an already well-known community endeavor," Clock said.

THE authorities include Edgardo Contini, partner, Gruen Associates; William J. Bird, vice president, Kaiser Industries; Dr. Edward Stainbrook, chairman, Department of Human Behavior, USC School of Medicine and Harry E. Brakebill, executive vice chancellor of the California State Colleges.

Contini, a graduate of the University of Rome and director of Gruen Associates projects in major cities of the United States, will present his views on "Creative City Planning."

Bird, a former chairman of the board and past president of the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce, is currently chairman of the Los Angeles Committee for Central City Planning. He will discuss urban area transportation, "The Mobility of Goods and People."

DR. STAINBROOK, author of three television series on psychiatry and human behavior, will present his views on "The Quality of Life in Our Urban Society."

Brakebill, a veteran of more than 30 years at the administrative levels of higher education, will discuss "The Challenges of Education for a Changing Society."

Advance registrations can be placed with the Chamber through Wednesday. Tickets will also be available at the Elks Lodge from 8 a.m. to noon Thursday.

Long Beach Trade Delegation to Attend Expo 70

By ROBERT BECKMAN
Business-Real Estate Editor

Seventy-six men and women, representing Long Beach, will be among the first visitors next month at the opening of Expo 70, the first international exposition staged in the Far East.

Before the fair closes at Osaka, Japan on Sept. 13, statisticians figure 50 million persons will have followed the official delegation of the International Trade Committee of the Long Beach Chamber of Commerce through the gates.

Says Revan D. Komaroff, chairman of the Chamber's Expo 70 committee:

"This trip is not only to promote the understanding of our trading partners, but to make closer contacts with new friends in this newest of trading markets of the world."

Adds Robinson A. Reid, president of the Port of Long Beach Board of Harbor Commissioners:

"Trade with Japan and the Orient is an important part of the Long Beach economy. This official delegation to the Orient is a significant contribution to the promotion of greater trade opportunities and cementing of stronger relationships."

H. George Hanawalt, president of the Chamber, emphasizes:

"Long Beach is the focal point for world trade within the Pacific Rim region. This delegation to Japan and the Orient is one way of expanding further the opportunities for trade that exist throughout this vast and rich area."

Ernest LaBelle, executive vice president of the Chamber, said this marks the first such official trade delegation from the city's business community.

The itinerary, LaBelle said, allows the group maximum time and freedom for personal business transactions. Carefully arranged are additional group meetings and tours with the major industries and trade commissions in the Orient.

Impressive Delegation

The people representing this area on the 21-day tour include (alphabetically):

Mrs. Elsie Benwell, past president of the Long Beach Symphony Guild.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Berbow (Fred R. Berbow & Sons Insurance).

Mr. and Mrs. Myron Blumberg (Blumberg & Zomnick, attorneys).

Mrs. Elma Bobb (Chamber Women's Division).

Mr. and Mrs. Don Bowers (Bowers Ambulance Service).

Mr. and Mrs. James Bragg (Bragg Crane Service).

Mrs. Lillian Crawford.

Mrs. Nettie Chernoff.

Mrs. Ruth Crall.

Councilman and Mrs. E. F. Cruchley (District 8).

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Davis (Davis Furniture Company).

Councilman and Mrs. Paul Deats (District 3).

Mrs. Julia DuBourdieu (Chamber Women's Division).

Mrs. Sadie Graver.

Mr. and Mrs. Brewster Gray (Jim Gray Imports).

Mr. and Mrs. H. George Hanawalt (Chamber president and district manager, Southern California Edison Company).

Dr. and Mrs. John Harris.

Mrs. Margaret Hunter.

Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Jacobs (vice president, Long Beach Unified School District board).

Dwight Jenkins (Home Savings & Loan Association, vice president-manager).

Mr. and Mrs. Revan Komaroff (president, Pacific Manufacturers Export Company).

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest LaBelle (executive vice president, Long Beach Chamber of Commerce).

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Labinger (Alpha Die Cutting & Mfg. Company).

Mr. and Mrs. Fonda McCook (vice president, Bank of California).

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Manns (Ralph E. Manns Co., air conditioning).

Mr. and Mrs. Weck Morgan (secretary-treasurer, Economy Escrow).

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Perkins (Hughes Aircraft Co.).

Mrs. Evelyn Pine and Miss Pamela Pine.

Mr. and Mrs. Irving Schneider.

Mrs. Elizabeth Tripeny and Miss Marion Tripeny.

Mr. and Mrs. John Weil (administrative assistant, Long Beach schools).

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Westmyer (president, Rex L. Hodges Realty).

Mr. and Mrs. William G. Wilson (president, Bill Wilson Co. insurance).

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Yancy (supervisory inspector of customs, U. S. Customs Service).

Out of Smog Belt

Expo 70's 815-acre site is 10 miles northeast of Osaka, 200 feet above sea level and well away from the worst of the Osaka smog belt.

A four-lane freeway and a new subway links Osaka with the Expo site, along with the ancient Hankyu electric train line. The new subway station will be in the middle of the exposition site and, within the site itself, the Japanese have created a fine transportation system to get visitors around easily.

From each station of a 3½-mile elevated monorail—that rings the grounds—there are moving sidewalks.

Aside from the host Japanese, the Americans and the Russians are—as usual—spending the most money and putting on the biggest shows.

The sense of rivalry between the two will be apparent. Officials attached to the U. S. pavilion say its price tag, $10 million, is only half of what the Soviets are spending.

The Russians have the tallest building—360 feet.

The U. S. has the shortest—a unique vinyl plastic dome covering 103,000 square feet of exhibition floor space.

'Don't Come Unless...'

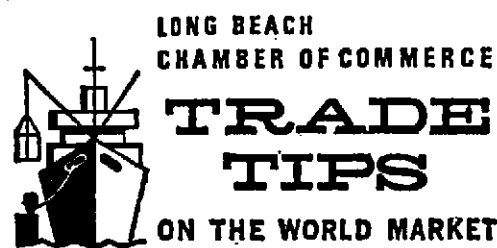

Expo 70 is located in a part of Japan that is woefully short of Western-style hotel rooms. The 18,000 beds in modern hotels, to be ready by the time the Expo opens, were reserved en bloc long ago by travel agencies and airlines.

So now the Japanese are pleading with foreigners not to come unless they have assured hotel reservations.

U. S. embassies around the world are issuing similar warnings to Americans.

But all should go well for the Long Beach delegation.

Hawaiian-Polynesian Tours, with offices in the Bank of California building, long ago reserved blocs of rooms from Tokyo and Osaka to Taipei and Hong Kong.

CEYLON — Leading firm of chemists, druggists is looking for contacts with manufacturers and suppliers of drugs and pharmaceuticals. Please contact with full particulars. The Pioneer Pharmacy, 183 Main St., Colombo 11, Ceylon.

Sears to Head Up Center

A large regional shopping center is planned in Westminster.

Sale of the property was in excess of $2,800,000. The new center, encompassing 93 acres, will be located at the intersection of Bolsa, Golden West, and the San Diego Freeway, and will be spearheaded by a full-line Sears Roebuck and Company department store, consisting of more than 275,000 square feet.

The site once contained the famous Pacific Goldfish Farm, owned by J. S. Akiyama.

Both buyer and seller were represented in the sale by John R. Schantz, Realtor, with the Katella Realty Investment Division in Garden Grove.

JAPAN — Pharmaceuticals, chemicals. Santen Pharmaceutical Co. Ltd., Shimoshinjo-cho, Higashi-yodogawa-ku, Osaka, Japan. Essential oils, aromatic chemicals, resonoids absolutes etc. used for flavors and perfumery compounds. Shiono Koryo Kaisha Ltd., 11 Doshomachi Sanchoe, Higashiku, Osaka, Japan.

LEBANON — Hospital supplies, medical equipment, sundry surgical material, Laminaria sticks, anesthetic ether, catgut sterile disposable supplies. Medical Services Inc., P.O. Box 4575, Beirut, Lebanon.

MOROCCO — Nous importons tout matériel médico-chirurgical. Matériel, instruments et produits de laboratoire, articles d'hygiène pour vente en pharmacie. S.C.R.I.M. 44 Bd. D'Argonne, Rabat, Morocco.

PAKISTAN — Importers and indenting agents of chemicals all sorts, coal, tar dyes, tools and workshop equipments, resins, mineral products and agricultural chemicals. Please contact: Karachi Trading Society, 108-110 Liaqat Market, Bunder Road, Karachi-2, Pakistan. Cable: Furcorp.

PORTUGAL — We are a firm with more than 30 years of activity. We are well connected for industrial chemicals and pharmaceuticals. Weber Internacional Sarr, Rua Eglis 2-2 Esq., Lisboa 1, Portugal.

SINGAPORE — Insecticides, fungicides, weedkillers, veterinary medicines, animal feed ingredients and premix, agricultural implements, bird seeds, cosmetics and perfumery. Ng Eng What, 14 New Bridge Rd., Singapore 1.

SYRIA — Nuclear and electronic apparatus. Physics and chemistry laboratory apparatus. Abdul Raouf Kudmani, P.O. Box 868, Damascus, Syria.

GREECE — Autocar accessories (generally), extinguishers (small size) and spray, clamps, articles of navigation and tools. Theodore P. Filopoulos, 78 Anafiotika St., Plaka, Athens T.T. 117, Greece.

SINGAPORE — Spare parts (ex army surplus, secondhand or brandnew). For military heavy duty trucks, like: BMC, CCKW 6 x 6, Canadian Ford F 60 L 4 x 4, Bedford QL 4 x 2 etc. Charlton Yeo Hoon Chee, Macperson, P.O. Box 16, Singapore 13.

Job Depression Seen

College graduates with advanced degrees will face a "job market depression" this June, Stanford University's director of placement services predicts.

Ralph Keller, the director, said recruiters for business, industry, education and government are not as anxious this year.

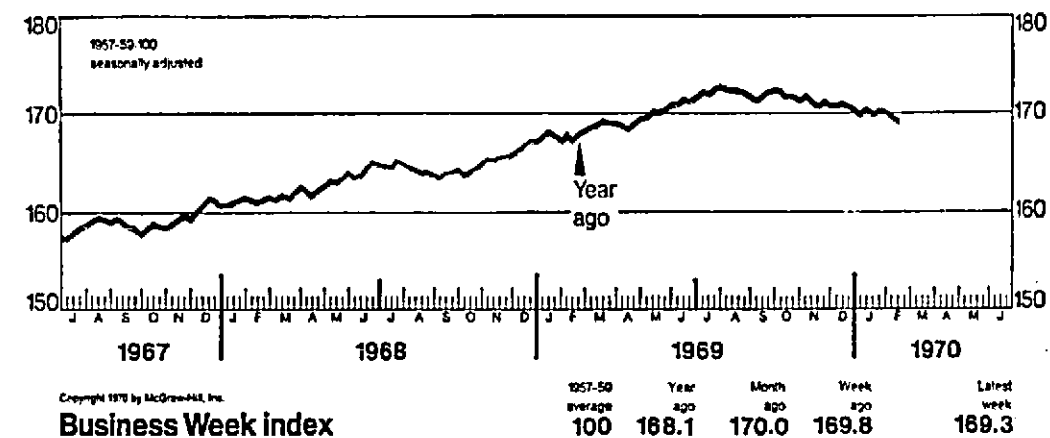

Because of that, he said, recruiters from 58 companies and seven governmental agencies had canceled dates at Stanford for January, February and March, which usually are their busiest months.

Cancellations in the past have never come in more than a dozen, and then mainly because of disinterest by the students themselves, he added. Stanford still will draw 400 recruiters this year, however, he said.

Keller said the situation may only be temporary, but added that it represented a trend away from a defense-oriented economy toward a civilian economy.

"Apparently the current demand is for fewer technicians, the theorists, and for more technicians, the how-to-do-it people," he said.

Major Carmakers Slash Production

The index sank to its lowest point since April 1969, as all but one of the components fell below a week ago.

Steel output dropped 0.9 per cent. The future of the steel industry does not look bright, due to the continuing drop in auto sales.

As most of the major carmakers slashed production drastically in the current week, auto production lost 20.1 per cent — a 35.1 per cent drop below a year ago. Sales are predicted to continue declining, and production will be reduced.

Crude oil refinery runs were down 2.8 per cent.

Miscellaneous carloadings, responding to the drop in motor vehicles and equipment carloadings fell 3.3 per cent; all other carloadings — reflecting losses in grain and coal output went down 8.0 per cent. Inter-city truck tonnage dropped 8.1 per cent.

Paperboard production slipped 2.4 per cent, reflecting losses in retail sales.

Micrographics-- Peek Into Unknown

TO ANSWER these problems the SEM magnifies a tiny portion of the problem area up to 100,000 times, then photographs the area for detailed study later by the firm's experts. The photograph shows specifically how ingredients are mixing, how materials are joining, or how fractures and corrosion are occurring.

In effect, the SEM permits a firm to "build a better mousetrap" and eliminate costly development and repair problems while still maintaining careful, accurate quality control, Dr. Hodgkin reported.

"The SEM also has applications in the printing of textbooks where highly magnified photographs of specific items are required for illustration, and in advertising and marketing where similar photographs could emphasize a client's product," he continued.

"Other fields include air pollution, botany, biology, geology, automotive, aerospace and architecture, to name just a few."

DR. HODGKIN, whose electronic background started in 1941 when he joined the U.S. Navy as an electronic technician, is a professional photographer, is lettered in zoology and physics and listed in American Men of Science. His Ph.D. is in zoology, and his personal interests in this field lie with the rock boring mussels. He holds a BS in business administration.

His interest in the SEM was heightened while attending the University of California several years ago.

He was literally "turned on" by what he was learning, and quickly realized the great potential for the SEM as a commercial venture.

AFTER absorbing all he could about the operation and techniques of a SEM he began looking around for the best available.

Lengthy research helped him decide on the Cambridge "Steroscan," and then he searched for the paper location to set up shop. One year ago he settled in Newport Beach, and Micrographics was born.

Since then his clientele has included some of the biggest names in industry and research on the West Coast — all eager to take an electronic journey into the world where problems are born.

Oceanaire Draws Opening Crowd

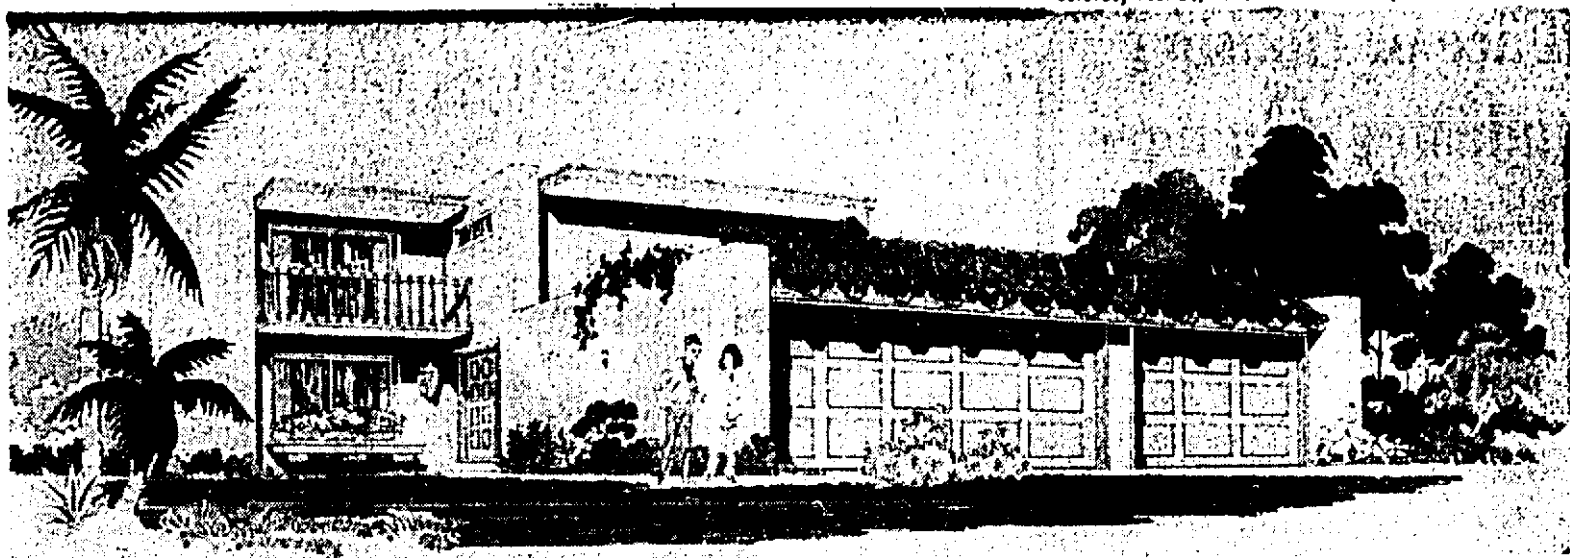

Several hundred people attended the successful grand opening held at Oceanaire in Huntington Beach last Sunday — Washington's Birthday — according to Sy Bram, vice president of Sunkist Builders, developers and builders of the new group of homes.

The Huntington Beach location is cited as one of the reasons for the successful turnout at Oceanaire.

As land near the ocean becomes scarce prices soar, but Sunkist has been able to build new homes on family-size lots, with sales prices as low as $27,150.

VA and FHA financing is available, and qualified veterans may move in with nothing down, the builder stated.

ALL HOMES at Oceanaire have built-in self-cleaning ovens. According to Edith Ludwig, sales manager, "these ovens are a very popular feature at Oceanaire."

There are three and four-bedroom plans available with a choice of 12 exterior stylings offered.

Two bathrooms, separate family rooms and dining areas offer families comfortable, spacious homes near Southern California beaches, excellent schools, churches, shopping centers, and easy freeway access to other population and recreational areas.

VISITORS are invited to make early lot, floorplan, exterior and color selections now during construction.

A representative group of furnished and decorated models may be visited daily from dawn to dusk.

To visit the new development take the San Diego, Santa Ana or Garden Grove freeways to Brookhurst Street and drive south to Yorktowne Avenue and right on Yorktowne to Oceanaire.

Rancho Realtors Set Essay Contest

An essay contest on the subject "What Are the Advantages of a Make America Better Program?" is being sponsored by the Rancho Los Cerritos Board of Realtors in cooperation with the local high schools. It was announced by board president Bruce T. Mulhearn.

Open to students of the 9th, 10th, 11th and 12th grades, the essays must be limited to 300 words. The contest closes May 1.

A prize will be awarded the winner from each school plus an overall winner.

THE WINNING student's entry will be entered in a statewide essay contest sponsored by the California Real Estate Association through its 176 local real estate boards.

Winner of that contest and the parents of the winner will be taken to the CREA convention in San Francisco in October to receive a trophy and a scholarship award.

Last year's scholarship award was $500.

This contest is intended to help students become aware of the problems America must cope with if we are to improve the quality of American life, and to consider the rewards for solving them, Mulhearn said.

BOOK REVIEW

New 'Bikini' Stocks Projected in Growth

STOCK MARKET PRIMER. By Claude N. Rosenberg Jr. World. $6.95.

The author, a partner in the San Francisco firm of J. Barth & Co., has revised and updated his guide for the investing beginner, first published in 1962.

It advances, basically, the same principles as "The Common Sense Way to Stock Market Profits," which he wrote a little more than a year ago, with 23 so-called "profit aids" for more sophisticated buyers.

The system proposed in the revised "Primer" is, again, intelligent research and analysis, grounded in an understanding of the securities markets, plus patience — and luck. The author stresses, as do all competent advisers, the importance of choosing the right industry, then a volatile company in that industry and then timing purchases and sales to the right situations.

HIS FORMULA for success is summarized in 17 "common-stock commandments, which correlate to those 23 profit aids. No surprises in any of it.

He's a comparatively conservative counselor who warns specifically against trading — buying a stock one day and selling it the next for a quick profit.

Traders, he says, give up too much in commissions, must make too many instant decisions, run too much daily risk and lose too much in capital gains tax benefits. He quotes a lifetime economist: "I know a lot of millionaire investors but I don't know one millionaire trader."

THE FIRST "Primer" listed eight "bikini" stocks — companies with new products offering dynamic possibilities but having only a small number of shares outstanding. His figures show those eight stocks appreciated an average of 400 per cent over six years.

Bekins Movers and Coldwell, Banker are among his 10 new "bikini" stocks, projected for exceptional growth in the near future.

Edgington Earnings Growing

Operating results of Edgington Oil Company, Long Beach, for the second fiscal quarter ended Dec. 31, 1969 continued to show marked improvement over the three preceding quarters, Ralph Edgington, president and chief executive officer, reported.

Earnings per share of outstanding common stock increased 25 per cent to 25 cents from 20 cents in the first quarter ended Sept. 30.

In the second quarter of 1968, prior to the rise in labor costs and the increase in posted crude oil prices, net per share was 33 cents, including non-recurring net of 3 cents.

There were 1,373,114 average common shares outstanding in 1969 compared with 1,400,000 shares in 1968.

CONTRIBUTING significantly to higher sales and earnings in the second quarter over the first quarter were increased sales of jet propulsion fuel and asphalt in domestic markets and increased sales of foreign crude oil and light fuels in export markets, Edgington said.

Sales and net income for the second quarter were $7,225,907 and $356,650 respectively compared with $5,771,940 and $287,380 for the previous quarter.

In the second quarter of 1968 net income totaled $350,576 on sales of $7,891,433.

Airline Fatal Mishaps Down

WASHINGTON (UPI) — One-hundred fifty-eight persons died in commercial airline accidents in the United States last year, the lowest death toll for one year since 1957, according to the National Transportation Safety Board.

The general aviation category, which includes private and business flying, however saw an increase in deaths. There were 1,388 deaths in general aviation last year compared with 1,374 the year before.

'Face of Housing Industry' Changes

The face of the housing industry will change more in the 1970s than during any decade in our history, according to the president of the leading builders' conference in the West.

Looking forward to the annual Pacific Coast Builders Conference, which he will preside over June 3, 4 and 5 in San Francisco, Robert M. Holmes analyzed the dramatic trends that will affect the home-building and construction industry in the next 10 years.

"The population explosion that was slated to have such a dramatic effect on the 1960s will be fully realized beginning with 1970. Ten years ago attitudes and such things as the "pill" thwarted the population boom's impact on housing.

"Now it is unstoppable, and the demand for housing is forcing a shift in ideas and dramatic new construction techniques. The high point in the housing industry will occur during the 70's."

IN CONJUNCTION with his thoughts, Holmes explained that the upcoming PCBC is being planned as one of the prime sources of information for preparing builders so they can realize the vast opportunities the 70's are about to unfold.

"Participation of the private building sector in the countless Federal housing programs, that are certain to be launched in the years ahead, will be a major consideration. Our Conference will feature people who will go into great detail on these programs."

Additionally, Holmes predicted that manufactured housing will become one of the stories of the decade. With the passage of the Factory Built Housing Law in California, and others that will surely follow, Holmes said, "75 percent of housing will be manufactured by the end of the decade."

According to Holmes, this will not mean a drastic slash in employment within the industry. He noted that the working force would actually triple.

"NEITHER will there be overnight standardization," noted Holmes, "because regional considerations are still a major influence. Regional differences, local transportation patterns, and individual likes and dislikes are still forces fighting standardization in housing."

So, what is the role of private builders in this changing picture? PCBC will provide the answers, says Holmes, via programs on how a builder gets involved in various programs, and how manufactured housing can involve him.

PCBC is the second largest builders' meeting in the nation, surpassed only by the annual convention of the National Association of Home Builders.

The conference annually features the nation's leading spokesmen for housing and construction through a host of educational programs.

PCBC comes off a record-setting year in 1969 when some 4,200 people viewed the event.

Witter Lectures Scheduled

"The Aware Investor in Today's Market" is the title of a free, two-part investment seminar to be presented at various Broadway Stores in the Southern California area on March 3 and March 10 by Dean Witter & Co., national investment firm.

Dean Witter account executives will discuss the current investment climate, the economic outlook and the investment opportunities currently available in stocks, bonds and mutual funds.

The first of the two sessions will concentrate on common stocks.

Topics to be discussed include the relative advantages and disadvantages of stocks in an investment program and methods of selecting stocks in the light of specific investment objectives.

THE SECOND session will examine corporate and municipal bonds and the role of mutual funds in an investment program.

Topics to be discussed include the basic strategies and techniques of bond investing, the basic factors that influence bond prices, the various types of mutual funds, and selection of funds according to various investment objectives.

All lectures will be held at the local Broadway store whose address is listed in the following schedule. All sessions begin at 7:30 p.m.

We're down to our last ups.

After 3 years and over 1500 big new homes, we're down to our last 39 Greenbrook giants.

forget it.

You'll never again be able to buy homes this big at these prices. Anywhere.

Never.

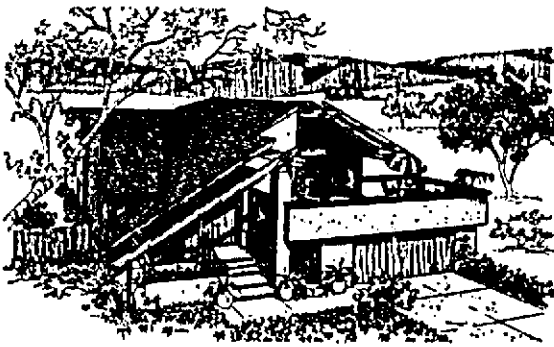

We've got Spacemakers. Just about ready for delivery. These are big new homes that you can grow into. Not out of.

They're very large.

We've got Granadas. Five bedroom, three bath splits that are so big you could get lost just walking through them.

They're enormous.

We've got a bunch of other great new Greenbrook homes that have to be sold.

This weekend.

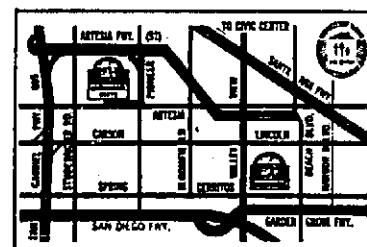

First come, first served. Special prices now in effect. Special sales force on duty until these are sold.

Special parking. (Everything's special).

This is a last chance opportunity to own a new home in one of the most popular new communities Southern California has seen in recent years.

Come on out today. These are the last of the Greenbrook giants. Only 39 left.

Casa Dominguez Growth at Swift Pace

Leadership Homes' Casa Dominguez in Carson set a new sales record during the first five weeks of this year, racking up more than $1.4 million in new home sales.

Casa Dominguez is a totally master-planned environment located at the hub of the Los Angeles-Long Beach industrial development.

"Casa Dominguez now has more than 6,000 residents, and from the great start we've had in 1970, we're hoping to add about 1,200 new neighbors this year," stated Philip Yaskin, Leadership Homes' director of sales.

"We've already sold more than 1,500 homes since the project opened, and thus far we're averaging more than one new home sale each day in 1970."

PRICED from $23,990, Casa Dominguez homes feature outdoor living in two, three, four, or five-bedroom homes.

Nine fully decorated models are on display daily, offering a total of 24 different elevations in Spanish, ranch, and contemporary exteriors.

"It's not just price that determines most home sales," suggested Al McKool, sales manager at Casa Dominguez, "it's really a combination of things. At Casa Dominguez the location midway between Los Angeles and Long Beach Freeways that people can drive to work in no time, and the shopping centers in the area offer all the top stores. Schools are another important factor, and our location to nearby schools is another strong sales factor for Casa Dominguez."

AMONG some of the features included in the purchase price at Casa Dominguez is wall to wall carpeting, extra large bedrooms with walk in closets, patio kitchens, vaulted ceilings, and fireplaces.

Built-in appliances, formal dining areas, and double door entries are among some of the luxury items included as standard features at the Carson community.

To reach Casa Dominguez, take the San Diego Freeway to Avalon Boulevard, then proceed east less than a mile to the master-planned community.

NEWEST IN TIRE STORES

Goddard Tire Company's new 25,000-square-foot facility, with carpeted showroom, has opened at Artesia and Studebaker, Cerritos. Owner, Phil Goddard, is Long Beach native with 25 years experience in field. Sales manager is Jay Clawson; office manager, Pete Zearbaugh. Complete line of General Tires, Zenith television, stereos and appliances are ready for inspection.

Good Interest Package for Casa Bonita Buyers

Buyers are showing enthusiastic approval of the 7 1/2 per cent annual rate interest package that is being offered for a limited time at Casa Bonita Homes in Cerritos, according to builders Henry and Myron Reichert.

Extensive four, five and six-bedroom plans with three baths feature unique innovations that are not usually included in the medium price range.

The Reicherts, father-and-son building team, are award-winning builders, known for custom and semi-customized homes that make the most of California living.

A careful quality control is maintained throughout all stages of building, assuring new owners of good investment, with minimum maintenance, convenience features and decorator inspired items that contribute to gracious living and entertaining.

CASA BONITA plans include formal dining room, separate family dining space, large family room.

Inviting tiled entry hall separates formal living room from the rest of the house. Sliding doors give outdoor access from most rooms and add scenic view of garden and yard.

Bright kitchens have a full line of appliances built in, deep cupboards and pantries with handsome furniture finish, ceramic tiled counters and breakfast bars.

Laundry facilities are separate, with both gas and electric outlets. Garages are large enough to include workshop and storage facilities.

LOCATIONAL advantages are excellent, with schools and shopping close by, freeway ramps within minutes of the community.

The area promises considerable appreciation in value, with cultural and recreational centers that add to the convenience of families who enjoy California living at its best. Regional parks and playgrounds are part of Cerritos City planning.

Entrance to Casa Bonita is on Artesia Boulevard, just east of 605 Freeway, between Studebaker and Gridley. Furnished models are open daily.

Younger to Talk to Realtors

Long Beach District Board of Realtors' members will meet at 7:15 a.m. Tuesday at the Lakewood Country Club.

Program chairman Winnie Cross and chairman of the day Gene Zechmeister said the speaker will be Evelle J. Younger, district attorney.

Younger's topic: "Crime and Law Enforcement."

Mortgage Defaults Increase

WASHINGTON (AP) — The number of home mortgages in serious default increased in the last quarter of 1969 from the unusually low level of last summer, the Mortgage Bankers Association of America reported.

The percentage of loans on one — to four-family houses in serious default — payments past due 60 days or more — was 0.79 per cent at the end of the year.

That was the highest since the 0.81 per cent of two years earlier.

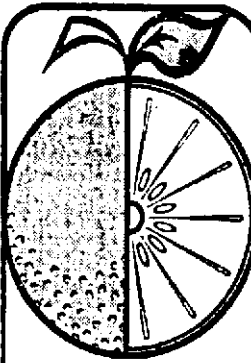

The General Electric Co. strike, coupled with layoffs in some industries, also was responsible for a rise in the short-term delinquency rate — past due for 30 days.

This rate was 2.43 per cent, compared with 2.18 per cent at the end of the third quarter.

The over-all delinquency rate — payments past due 30 days or longer — was 3.22 per cent at the year-end. This was well above the 2.91 per cent at the end of the third quarter.

THE RALLYE 350... It's Newest From Oldsmobile's Stable

By ART STEPHAN
Auto Editor

An unusually designed and highly visible Oldsmobile made its bow in the Southland last week as 50 of the area's auto editors met at the Sheraton-Universal Hotel, Los Angeles, to hear the division's general sales manager, William J. Buxton, describe its features.

"This new car, the Rallye 350," he said, "is very attractively styled, highly competent and pleasing on the road. In addition, it is competitively priced in the industry's intermediate market, available in Oldsmobile's lowest priced F-85 sports coupe body style, as well as in the Cutlass coupe and hardtop coupe."

The newest addition to Oldsmobile's fleet of specialty cars is being produced in a single paint color, Sebring Yellow, accented with black and red striping and black vinyl interior trim.

"The bumpers, front and rear," Buxton said, "are also color-matched to the body through an exclusive Oldsmobile process of applying a urethane coating to the unplated steel bumper bars."

He described urethane as an 'elastic plastic' which is color-mixed, applied by spray, and then baked at 250 degrees Fahrenheit.

"ENGINEERING TESTS," he added, "give this new bumper finish an extremely high rating in its resistance to weather and road damage. It has been found to be much more durable than chrome or paint."

"And there's another advantage," Buxton explained. "Nicks and gouges in the bumper are easily repairable with a Sebring Yellow urethane lacquer spray repair kit."

The same color is extended to the car's standard 7-inch wide super-stock wheels.

"The car's appearance," he continued, "is designed to communicate its sporting spirit and, while we expect people to be impressed with the young look of his new Oldsmobile, we believe they will be even more impressed when they drive it. Its 350 cubic inch 4-barrel V-8, combined with a specially designed suspension system, provides a fine combination of effortless performance and smooth handling for a beautiful driving experience."

"IT CRUISES LIKE A LUXURY car and handles flat and sure on the corners. It is quiet and precise and goes where you point it because of the excellent balance of suspension geometry against weight distribution," Buxton added.

Standard rear axle ratio on the newest Oldsmobile is 3.23-to-1, with options of 3.42 and 3.91. If the Rallye 350 is ordered with the close ratio 4-speed manual transmission, the 3.42 axle is standard.

Other features include a fiberglass hood with dual air scoops, sporty side-mounted rearview mirrors, and a custom sport steering wheel. A specifically designed rear spoiler is optional.

Silicone Rubber Plant on Stream in Costa Mesa

A new silicone rubber manufacturing plant — the first of its type on the West Coast — is now on stream for Dow Corning Corporation at Costa Mesa.

The 28,000-square-foot Dow Corning plant will supply custom-compounded silicone rubber to parts manufacturers throughout the 11 Western states.

In addition to its manufacturing capabilities, the plant also has laboratory facilities for the development of specialized heat curing silicone and fluoro-silicone rubber materials, sealants, and flexible mold-making materials.

KEY personnel at the new plant are C. W. Roush, plant manager; Robert C. Witman, district manager, and Richard A. Compton, project engineer.

The installation is the third Dow Corning compounding plant in the nation.

Other plants are located in Midland, Mich., and Trumbull, Conn.

According to Roush, the new facility greatly reduces the time required for delivery of custom compounded silicone rubbers, and gives West Coast manufacturers immediate access to technical service, development, and production know-how in silicone rubbers.

SILICONE rubber parts are now used in almost every industry.

On the West Coast, major uses are in the aerospace, electronics, appliance, electrical, automotive, and plastics industries.

Their outstanding attributes include the ability to function over a wider temperature range than any other elastomer (from 100 to 500 F), excellent electrical properties; resistance to weathering; and resistance to deterioration from chemical attack.

L.B. REALTORS PREXY SAYS:

Appeal of Industrial Property Stays

Moving industrial plants to new areas makes sense for some manufacturers, but more often the economics of cost, employment and facilities favor the traditional centers, says Jack Krueger, president of the Long Beach District Board of Realtors.

"Investors in real estate should keep this in mind when they are considering what form their investment may take. In an expanding state such as ours with population, production and economic growth curving upward, plant expansion is keeping pace," Krueger said.

An electronics firm may outgrow its quarters and succumb to the lure of a new site among the oaks with a view of the ocean and a small-town atmosphere for its employees. Their needs may make it possible, he added.

"THE OLD SITE in an existing industrial area still has the advantages that helped the electronics firm outgrow it. Availability of labor is still favorable.

"In fact, the community is usually grateful for new enterprises moving in to take up the slack. Transportation, utilities, zoning, acceptance — all of these factors are still there," Krueger said.

"These are reasons why such established industrial properties are good inventory for the community. Keeping them filled with job producing industry is the concern of the Chamber of Commerce, the banks and the utility companies, as well as of the industrial Realtor or other real estate brokers."

MOST CITIES realize this and maintain some kind of information office concerning the attractions of the community and its facilities. Even so, the ultimate attraction has to be the property itself, which means someone has to own it and take care of it, Krueger said.

"This offers a good opportunity for investment since a large percentage of industrial production takes place in lease facilities. The advantages to the manufacturer are apparent — a fixed monthly or yearly expense that can be paid out of production income rather than require a large capital outlay."

THE LEASE is usually for a fixed time with some

Buses Busy

Buses, reports the National Automobile Club, carry 70 per cent of all transit passengers in our nation's urban areas.

form of option on expiration, putting the manufacturer in a position to take a look at his situation, Krueger added. Has he, too, outgrown it? Should he renegotiate a lease, asking that the owner build a new warehouse and run in more power lines?

"These advantages are two-way. The owner has a responsible tenant with reasonable certainty that income from his investment will come in at predictable rate."

"The property is subject to depreciation, allowing him to increase his equity through tax deductions that can be used to replace the building, modernize it, or alter it to suit a tenant," Krueger said.

All of these advantages so apply to raw land in an industrially zoned area. The facility can be built to suit the first tenant's using the lease and the tenants responsibility and potential to get the money to build it, the board president concluded.

"Industrial property is a valuable asset. Investment in it helps produce jobs as well as profit for its owner, a factor contributing satisfaction as well."

Parsons Gets Contract

The Ralph M. Parsons Construction Company of Canada, Ltd., a subsidiary of The Ralph M. Parsons Company (ASE), Los Angeles based engineering-construction firm, has been awarded a contract for engineering, purchasing, and constructing a gas treating and sulfur recovery plant for Banff Oil L.L. and Aquitane Company of Canada Ltd., Calgary, Canada. The constructed value of the facility will be approximately $25 million.

When completed, it will process 220 million cubic feet-per day of natural gas and will produce pipeline gas, 3000 barrels-per-day of stabilized condensate and 2000 long tons-per-day of sulfur.

The plant will be located in Alberta, Canada.

Peak of Monetary Restraint Behind Us

NEW YORK (UPI) — It seems clearer now than at any time since mid-December that the peak of monetary restraint is well past, Abraham & Co. says.

The firm believes the supply of money will continue to expand and the cost of money will not rise again. "Against this background, and considering that in price-earnings ratios historically tend to rise as money grows," the firm says it is impressed by the fact that the number of stocks posting new 1969-70 lows on the New York Stock exchange failed to expand during the past two months.

well be over for a substantial majority of common stocks, the firm says.

Argus Research Corp. believes a modest easing of monetary policy is imminent and that investors should adopt a more constructive attitude toward stock investments.

The bond market, which typically moves before the stock market, already has shown considerable improvement since December, the firm says.

The recently released short interest figures are scarcely encouraging, E. F. Hutton says.

Short interest of the New York Stock Exchange, although only slightly down from January's figure, fell to a three-year low. The short interest ratio was up slightly, but the disparity can be explained in terms of daily volume.

Although the total short interest fell slightly, the average daily volume slackened at a quicker pace, bringing about a slight increase in the ratio.

NEW YORK (UPI)—Other free world economies are holding up well under the pressures of America's correctional recession and continued inflation according to a United Press International survey.

However, the $75 billion investment mix and high degree of financial interdependence could produce trouble abroad if U.S. attempts to stabilize her economy drag on without success.

Foreign and U.S. economists and financial experts pointed to four years of U.S. inflation, an infectious and exportable factor, high interest rates generated by Federal Reserve attempts to slow down the American economy and the forced cutback of American business activity as problem areas.

"But there's no evidence yet," said a U.S. government economist, "that the free world has caught a cold because the U.S. is sneezing. A few wary 'gesundheits,' maybe, but no significant evidence that our trading partners are in trouble."

Experts questioned around the world did qualify their optimism by saying trouble could develop abroad if the U.S. economy isn't stabilized, or on the way to stabilization, by the end of the year.

Direct (non stock) foreign investments in the United States have a paper value of $10.8 billion and range from large oil and chemical holdings to the "Good Humor" ice cream man.

LIKE MANY Americans, foreign investors are becoming somewhat disenchanted with the U.S. stock markets.

In 1968, foreigners purchased $13.1 billion in stocks and sold $10.8 billion for a net holding of $2.3 billion. Their holdings fell by $600 million last year.

In January, Francis I. Du Pont & Co., a New York brokerage, closed down branches in Beirut, Kuwait and Paris because of the "realities of the market."

Translation: lack of business.

More than 100 U.S. firms with overseas interests have annual sales in excess of $500 million. Eleven of the 500 largest U.S. companies have more than 50 per cent of their assets, earnings or employment in overseas operation; 77 of them have 25 per cent or more; and 199 have 10 per cent or more.

Such internationalization of production and investment makes companies very sensitive to foreign temperatures.

International Telephone & Telegraph, which employs 331,000 in 70 countries, regularly checks the pulse of Western Europe by convening an economics board made up of top European ITT officials and economists.

It met recently and saw no evidence of European hysteria about U.S. economic problems, according to Dr. Raymond J. Saulnier, economist, ITT consultant and chairman of that board.

At the recent meeting to "take a sounding on 1970," the findings were optimistic despite evidence of a downturn in the U.S. economy

Eichler Backers Shorted

SAN FRANCISCO (U)—The trustee of the Eichler Corp. says 600 bondholders and 1,100 stockholders in the bankrupt home building firm probably will never recover any of their investment.

In a report to the U.S. District Court, Stuart M. Kaplan said the prospects are that liquidation may not pay all creditor claims totaling about $2 million.

U.S. District Court Judge Albert C. Wollenberg has approved Kaplan's liquidation plan, formally filed last week.

The company went into bankruptcy in 1967 a year after Joseph Eichler, widely known California builder who completed 5,000 homes and several high-rise apartments, sold his controlling interest.

THE BUYERS were Charles S. Parr Sr. and Robert Bryson, both of Los Angeles.

When the company went into bankruptcy proceedings, Kaplan said, it held $10,000 in cash against $27 million in total liabilities and $2 million owed to trade creditors.

Kaplan said $500,000 has been raised through sale of land with more land sales expected. He said $230,000 was realized in damages collected from plumbing supply and concrete pipe firms convicted of price fixing.

He said the liquidation will take several years to complete.

Five good reasons to buy a home in the dark:

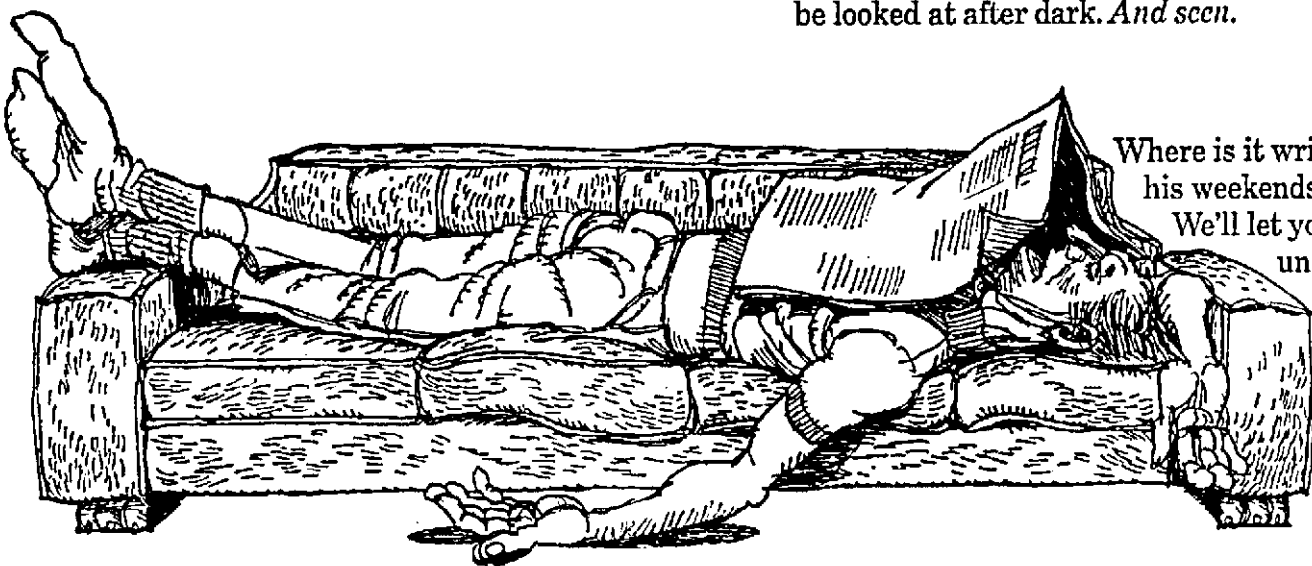

Crowds are for football games, not housing developments. By looking at night, you're assured of our full attention. Every night until nine-thirty. With no need to shove, push or cajole. And no need to rush through a home in five minutes that you plan to live in for many years.

You won't have to fight fidgety kids at night if they're home with a babysitter. (A worthwhile investment, even at $1.00 an hour.) If you can't get a sitter, bring the kids anyway. The extreme quiet will confuse them long enough to let you get a good look.

Seeing your home at night before you buy is an important advantage since most of your total family life will occur during the evening hours. We've even added specially designed lighting so our model homes can be looked at after dark. And seen.

Where is it written that Man must spend his weekends looking at new homes? We'll let you look any night of the week until nine-thirty. Then, you can take your Saturdays and Sundays and do with them what you will.

But night selling doesn't mean much unless you've got something worthwhile to sell. At Alton Street in Santa Ana, we've designed some very special, very different kinds of homes. $28,990 to $35,490 homes built by Levitt and Sons of California Inc. And backed by a warranty no other builder can afford to offer. We'd like you to see the homes at Alton Street in Santa Ana. Tonight. Or any night this week until nine-thirty. We're off Bristol, just a couple of blocks north of the South Coast Plaza Shopping Center. (If, for some reason, you can't look at night, we're also open during the day. From ten o'clock on.)

AT SEPULVEDA-VERMONT

Zody's Starts Construction on 21st Store

Lee Freedman, executive vice president, Zody's Quality Discount Department Stores, last week triggered a 21-gun "cannonade" salute to signal start of construction of Zody's 21st store in the Southland.

This new Zody's will be at the intersection of Sepulveda Boulevard and Vermont Avenue, just off the Harbor Freeway.

Assisting Freedman were civic officials representing Torrance, Carson and the city of Los Angeles.

In describing the second of five new Zody's stores to be built in 1970, Freedman pointed out that this particular unit would be 105,000 square feet and is being built at a construction cost of more than $1 million.

The store is scheduled for opening in June.

THIS 21ST store in the rapidly expanding Zody's chain, will be of tilt-up concrete panel construction with fluting within the panels.

There also will be exterior tongue-and-groove teak paneling. Large expanses of glass will be featured over the high canopy entrance to the store.

Another new exterior design feature will be six tree wells along the front walk that will feature eucalyptus trees.

The nine-acre property will also provide enough space for parking of approximately 1000 cars.

Ralph Evans is the general contractor.

FREEDMAN commented that this new Zody's sits on a strip of unincorporated land within the county of Los Angeles and will serve the communities of Torrance, Carson, Harbor City and San Pedro.

Freedman said he is delighted the Department of Highways had the foresight to build a four-level on-off ramp of the Harbor Freeway at Sepulveda.

ALL ZODY'S stores feature complete fashion departments with the latest up-to-the-minute styles in fashions for women, men, juniors, junior petites, teens, children and infants.

Zody's merchandise assortment also includes complete departments in housewares, hardware, toys, sporting goods, radios, and phonographs, records, small appliances, major appliances, linens and domestics, fine jewelry, cameras, health and beauty aids, family shoes, piece goods, as well as beer, wine and liquor.

The steady growth of the Southern California-based Zody's chain has been built on policies of complete customer satisfaction with full guarantees on all purchases, Freedman said.

PORTS O' PROGRESS

By JACK O. BALDWIN
Marine Editor

Negotiations are underway to locate a Marine Studies Facility on a 16-acre waterfront site in Long Beach.

Francis Merchant, vice chairman of the Ocean Industries Committee of the Chamber of Commerce, recently reported the negotiations should be completed in about four weeks and within two months the proposal will go to the state capital for funding.

Plans call for the construction of two seven-story buildings to contain laboratories, classrooms and offices and a two-story engineering building.

The complex would help include a marine library, a 250-seat auditorium and administrative offices. Planned also is a salt water moat and a lagoon for quiet water biological studies.

WHILE SEVERAL SITES were considered the city favors a location south of Ocean Boulevard adjacent to the Golden Avenue small boat launching ramp, according to City Manager John R. Mansell.

"Purpose of the facility is not intended to be at the undergraduate level but will be oriented toward the post graduate student working for a masters or doctorate degree," Merchant said.

The proposal has been presented and approved by the Board of Trustees of the State Colleges.

Currently six colleges (Long Beach, Dominguez, Fullerton, San Fernando, Los Angeles, and San Luis Obispo) have agreed to develop oceanographic curriculums.

The facility is expected to be ready for use in late 1971 or early 1972.

REAR ADM. JOHN J. FEE, (USN Ret.), director of the Queen Mary conversion project reports work on the former luxury liner is "moving along well" after several delays.

He said the Queen probably would move to her permanent location along the easterly face of Pier J in late summer and open to the public in the fall of 1970.

THE LOS ANGELES MAYOR'S Community Advisory Committee Conference on Environmental Management will meet in the Biltmore Hotel next Saturday, March 7, to examine what various city departments, including the harbor department, are doing or plan to do to combat pollution in all its forms.

Home Price Outlook: Up, Up, Up and Away

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Most of the nation's 40 million homeowners have made a big although mostly illusory — profit on their houses in the past few years.

They could probably realize a substantial sum of money by selling on today's market. The catch is that it also would cost them more to obtain another house of equal size and quality either by buying or renting.

These basic economic facts are outlined in a report on the real estate market prepared by Catherine E. Martini, director of the research department of the National Association of Real Estate Boards.

The median sale price for existing homes rose from $18,300 in 1965 to $21,700 last year. During the same period, the median price of new homes rose from $19,600 to $26,100.

"SINCE THE volume of new construction can be expected to fall below levels needed for family formation and urban growth, the competitive position of existing structures will be strengthened further," Miss Martini said.

"Far more often than in the case of any other commodity or service, the consumer's need is met from the existing supply. Shortage of new units enhances these values, adding to the inflationary spiral."

Housing Secretary George Romney says the nation is in the grip of the worst housing shortage since World War II. He says a total of 2.57 million additional units are needed right now to provide adequate housing for all Americans.

THE SHORTAGE was 2.08 million units at the end of 1965, 1.41 million units at the end of 1967, 932,000 units at the end of
